

One Stop Procurement and Marketplace Solution

In this day and age, the web is fundamental to what people need and want. In particular, organizations utilize a web-based business framework to procure products and services. Despite the fact that internet has been around for some time now, it continues to evolve in an exponential fashion.

Today, companies benefit from advances in technology. The growth of the internet enables the discovery of reliable suppliers to procure from, with just a few keystrokes. This is because businesses deploy strategic sourcing initiatives through single portals. It has been a huge advantage to organizations in promoting business growth and in gaining more opportunities, which to them were challenges and limitations in the past.

Exceture's ExceCatalog is an online cloud-based, mobile and browser-based procurement and marketplace system where your organization can consolidate and process products from different vendors to offer to its members.

ExceCatalog is a catalog management software that allows businesses to organize and manage catalog related products and data. It is automated catalog listing tool for brands to automate product listings, which includes Digital Catalog, Online Order Entry, Order Status, Inventory and Pick, Pack and Ship products for your customers.

Whether you are a growing wholesaler or distributor, our experts can help you import, format, and cleanse your catalog data. ExceCatalog allows your members to enter an item number, name, SKU or type and it will immediately show relevant items from various suppliers without going through different supplier sites to find an item.

ExceCatalog uses an integrated approval system to determine and admit or reject new suppliers or new products into the catalog.
