As a parent, your children will be your greatest legacy. How our children behave in this world is a reflection of us and indicative of their long-term success and confidence. Being attentive in educating our children about the importance of civility is critical. How are you guiding them today so they will positively contribute to our world tomorrow?

The Center for Proper Protocol & Etiquette has a program to assist you in teaching your children self-respect and confidence while giving them a strong foundation on which to build positive, life-long attitudes. "Your Manners Matter" is a complete interactive system that is taught in a fun and easy-to-understand format.
