

Youth Writing Camp

Do you miss writing class over the summer? Would you be interested in creating and publishing an original piece of work?

Then, this eight session writing camp is for you! Discover and pursue your passion for writing at our writing camp! Work on writing of your choice, publish it for all to see, and celebrate with other students!

Teacher consultants will guide students in a small group setting to complete self-driven projects.

Publication could be a book, website or an animated video. The choices are endless. Join us this summer and have fun exploring different genres of writing!

Audience: Children entering 3rd - 8th grades (Rising 2nd graders welcome. Please consult with program coordinator before enrolling to ensure it is a good fit for your young child.)

Facilitators: Barbara Lewis and Karen Sapudar

Cost: $275. 10% discount for children from the same family, military families or for children of Rider staff/faculty.

Register online here: <http://bit.ly/2Tvc5im>

About Us

NWP@Rider is an affiliate of the National Writing Project (NWP).

NWP is a professional development network of sites anchored at colleges and universities and serving teachers across all disciplines and levels (early childhood through university).

NWP and affiliated sites provide professional development, develop resources, generate research, and act on current professional knowledge to improve the teaching of literacy and learning in schools and communities.

NWP@Rider serves Pre-K thru 16 educators in Mercer and surrounding counties.

Contact Us

Heather Casey
Site Director
Email: hcasey@rider.edu

Laurell Parris
Co-director & Summer Coordinator
Email: laurellparris@gmail.com

Nancy Chodoroff
Professional Development Coordinator
Email: nchodoroffrider@gmail.com

Leadership Team

Linda Biondi

Carol Brown

Heather Casey

Nancy Chodoroff

Carol Hotchkiss

Laura Fay

Barbara Lewis

Bill O'Neal

Laurell Parris

Karen Sapudar

Visit us online at www.nwprider.org

National Writing Project
at Rider University
(NWP@Rider)

Literacy Opportunities
for Educators, Children
& the Community

Summer 2020 Offerings

NWP@Rider
Rider University
Memorial Hall 102H
2083 Lawrenceville Road
Lawrenceville, NJ 08648

Literacy Opportunities

All Learning is Social and Emotional

July 7th & 8th
9 am - 3 pm

Reading and Writing Workshop for Primary Grades

July 7th-9th
9 am - 3 pm

Building Engagement through Escape Room Activities

July 9th & 10th
9 am - 3 pm

Reading and Writing Workshop for Upper and Middle Grades

July 13th-15th
9 am - 3 pm

Teachers as Writers Invitational Summer Institute

July 13th-15th
9 am - 3 pm

Co-sponsored by the Friends for the Abbott Marshlands

Writing in the Wild

July 17th
10 am - 1:30 pm

For the Community

Youth Writing Camp

July 7th-10th
July 13th-16th
9 am - 12 noon

For children entering 3rd - 8th grades

All Learning is Social and Emotional

Very often educational programs build separate curriculums for character education and social development among students. Research shows that incorporation of social and emotional learning with the standards of curriculum helps students to engage more completely with their teachers, peers, and instructional material.

When we as educators can embrace the social nature of learning, we can put aside the meditation moments and see the value in teaching self-awareness, prioritization, true mindfulness, and self-regulation.

Audience: All teachers, all grades, all subject areas

Facilitator: Laura Fay

Cost: $80; Register online here: <http://bit.ly/38bN01t>

Reading and Writing Workshop for Primary Grades

The Workshop Model for Reading and Writing, provides teachers with an instructional framework to create a classroom environment in which students can learn and develop together. As teachers guide and facilitate learning, children develop into independent readers and writers. Join us to explore the basic principles, ideas, and organizational structure of teaching reading and writing using the Workshop Model with children in the primary grades.

Teachers unfamiliar with the workshop model will prepare to launch their own workshop in the fall, while those already familiar with the model can use this course as a tune-up to get organized for the coming school year.

Audience: Kindergarten through 3rd/4th grade teachers

Facilitators: Linda Biondi and Carol Hotchkiss

Cost: $240; Register online here: <http://bit.ly/39mqmoB>

Building Engagement Through Escape Room Activities

Building critical thinking skills, fostering collaborative relationships, creating learning through discovery, and captivating attention through engagement. The demands on the classroom teacher pile up year after year and new and innovative techniques are needed to keep up with the changing needs of students.

Escape rooms can bring all of these elements together in the secondary classroom. Learn to create curriculum based puzzles and activities, both virtual and physical, that will guide students through breaking codes and escaping the learning humdrum.

Audience: Middle and High School teachers, all subject areas

Facilitator: Laura Fay

Cost: $160; Register online here: <http://bit.ly/2Vzjy20>

Reading and Writing Workshop for Upper and Middle Grades

The Workshop Model for Reading and Writing, provides teachers with an instructional framework to create a classroom environment in which students can learn and develop together. As teachers guide and facilitate learning, children develop into independent readers and writers. Join us to explore the basic principles, ideas, and organizational structure of teaching reading and writing using the Workshop Model with children in the upper and middle grades.

Teachers unfamiliar with the workshop model will prepare to launch their own workshop in the fall, while those already familiar with the model can use this course as a tune-up to get organized for the coming school year.

Audience: 4th/5th through 8th grade teachers

Facilitator: Laurel Parris

Cost: $240; Register online here: <http://bit.ly/2uEHGWv>

Teachers as Writers Invitational Summer Institute

Join us to explore your own creative and professional writing potential and learn how to carry your expertise into the classroom. You will leave with tools for the classroom and a plan to keep you writing once you leave. Facilitators will lead discussions and encourage participants to think as writers and as teachers of writers.

This Invitational Summer Institute is at the core of NWP's model of "teachers teaching teachers". The institute is designed to support teachers as professionals, as researchers, and as writers. The goal of the institute is to help teachers deepen their understanding of the teaching of writing. Participants will receive opportunities for continued professional development during the school year. Participants may elect to earn 1-3 graduate credits. Contact Heather Casey if interested in this option.

Audience: All teachers, all grades, all subject areas

Facilitators: Linda Biondi and Carol Hotchkiss

Cost: $240; Register online here: <http://bit.ly/3cj0h9R>

Writing In the Wild (Co-sponsored by the Friends for the Abbott Marshlands)

Treat yourself to a day spent writing with us in the inspiring Abbott Marshlands! We will meet at the beautiful Tulpehaking Nature Center, where we will read favorite nature writing, share techniques for getting started, and then move out into the trails to write. Bring a lunch. Water, snacks, and supplies (pen and journal) will be provided. However, feel free to bring a favorite pen and journal if you have them.

Audience: All

Facilitator: Carol Brown

Cost: Free

Register online here: <http://bit.ly/2W4FkvF>