

Advanced Respiratory High Dependency Course for Registered Nurses

The course will focus on the specialist skills to support patients who require specialist respiratory therapies such as ventilator assistance and have complex needs. The range of study will embrace the critical care environment to ventilator weaning and through the patient pathway of rehabilitation to discharge.

The certificated programme supports the view that this is a developing field of expertise requiring a new level of respiratory nurse specialists and is supported by the University of Surrey as a Level 6, 30 credit course.

The course runs over six months at the Lane Fox Remeo Centre.

For general enquiries, application process and course dates please contact:
careers@remeo.co.uk

quality of care
for quality of life

