

Kathy is more than a realtor. She quickly becomes your guide through the sale process. When our mother passed away, my brother and I were overwhelmed about all that we would have to do regarding her house and all of her possessions. Luckily we spoke with Kathy and she informed us that she could help us with the organizing of her things and an estate sale as well as everything needed to get her house in shape for the market. She was very thorough in explaining the real estate market in the area as well as ways to donate items that were not sold so that they would have a good home.

We had a problem that was complicating things and emotional as well. My mom's companion would need a place to live when we sold the house and because we would need to do work in the house we didn't have much time. Kathy was diligent in trying to find a place for him to rent in a price range that suited his needs. She not only found him a place but found him one with another older gentleman who also needed companionship and help paying his bills so he wouldn't have to sell his home! She was compassionate throughout the whole process and found just the perfect fit. The two men now have spaces of their own and are very happy.

Lastly, knowing that my brother and I lived hours away from the home that we were dealing with she also worked with us to sell our home to the contractor who was doing the work, and then she worked with him to put the home on the market when he had completed it. The house is now beautiful and just like new and they sold it within a day!

If you're looking for someone who cares about you and your needs, Kathy should be your realtor. She is wonderful.
