

November 2016 update for Radius Capital Management

PERFORMANCE AT A GLANCE

Portfolio/Index	November Return	YTD Return To 11/30/16
Stock Portion of Radius portfolios (Radius 100)	+3.0%	+5.1%
Stock Portion of Radius Index portfolios (Index 100)	+4.8%	+10.3%
U.S. Stock Benchmark (Vanguard S&P 500 Index Fund)	+3.7%	+9.7%
Balanced Risk 100 Portfolio (target risk/volatility vs. S&P = 100%)	-2.4%	+8.4%
Bond Portion of Radius and Index portfolios	-3.0%	+0.7%
Bond Benchmark (Vanguard Total Bond Index Fund)	-2.6%	+2.2%

Despite almost all predictions to the contrary, the U.S. stock market did not sell-off as a result of Donald Trump's Electoral College victory, but rather rallied strongly. International stocks, on the other hand, declined in November due to a strengthening dollar, and bonds dropped precipitously as a result of spiking interest rates. For the full month the S&P 500 was up +3.7% and the EAFE international index dropped -2.0%. Economically-sensitive Small Cap stocks did the best, with Small Value posting a gain of +10.3%. Value stocks clearly outperformed Growth, but Mid and Small Caps outperformed Large Caps. All bond indices dropped sharply in November, with volatile long-term government bonds declining -7.9% and the broad bond index losing -2.6%.

MARKET CHARACTERISTICS

LONG-TERM PERFORMANCE THROUGH 11/30/2016

The longer-term performance of the Radius portfolios continues to be strong. Since inception (1/1/2001), the Radius 100 portfolio has generated a net cumulative return of +208% (7.3% annualized) vs. a cumulative return of +124% (5.2% annualized) for the benchmark S&P 500 – with a comparable level of risk (i.e., standard deviation of monthly returns, maximum drawdown, and beta). Over the same time period, the more conservative Radius 60 (60% stock mutual fund, 40% bond mutual fund) portfolio grew +180% (6.7% annualized) vs. a +126% return (5.3% annualized) for its benchmark³.

^a Returns for the Balanced Risk portfolio prior to 3/30/2015 are back-tested (simulated) and not actual returns of Radius accounts.

² The performance numbers are for the corresponding Vanguard stock and bond index funds and the Vanguard Total Intl Bond Index fund (VTIBX) for the Worldwide Bond segment

Footnotes:

^a Returns for the Balanced Risk portfolio prior to 3/30/2015 are back-tested and not actual returns of accounts managed by Radius. Back-tested (simulated) performance results have certain inherent limitations. Unlike an actual performance record, simulated results do not represent actual trading. Also, since the trades have not actually been executed, the results November have under- or over-compensated for the impact, if any, of certain market factors, such as lack of liquidity. Simulated investment strategies in general are also subject to the fact that they are designed with the benefit of hindsight. No representation is being made that any account will or is likely to achieve profits or losses similar to those shown.

¹ The Balanced Risk 100 and 75 portfolios invest part of their assets in leveraged ETFs. These funds seek daily investment results – before fees and expenses – that are triple the return of stock (S&P 500, S&P Mid-Cap 400, Russell 2000), bond (20+ Year Treasury Bond), and commodity (gold, silver, oil) market indices. Using these leveraged ETFs results in greater volatility and a greater risk of loss.

Other Notes:

- Investment returns since the portfolio inception date reflect the (unaudited) performance of actual investment portfolios.
- For the period prior to its inception date, the returns for the Radius 20 are calculated using the actual returns from the Radius 100 and 60.
- All performance numbers include dividends and capital gains and are net of all transaction costs and management fees, but do not reflect the impact of taxes.
- Past performance is no guarantee of future results. There will be periods when the investments lose value and/or underperform their respective benchmark.
