From Berber State to Moroccan Empire

The Glory of Fez under the Marinids

Maya Shatzmiller

Medieval Fez was a main center of education, art, and commerce from the 13th to the 16th centuries after the Marinid Berber tribe seized power in Morocco and moved the capital from Marrakesh to Fez. As non-Arabs they gained legitimacy by founding madrassas, religious universities. They also supported the arts and commerce, and expanded their state into an empire. It was the Golden Age of Fez. Maya Shatzmiller draws a historical panorama of this era, highlighting its movers and shakers in locations from North Africa to the Mediterranean world.

Hidden Lives of Jews and Africans: Underground Society in the Iberian Atlantic World

Jonathan Schorsch

“... a real tour-de-force. ... an entirely new approach in the field.” — Reviews in History

The 16th and 17th-century Iberian Atlantic was a turbulent world of adventurers, transatlantic slave trade, forced conversion to Catholicism, and underground societies. Africans and converted Jews were persecuted by the Inquisition. This book draws on protocols to create a panorama of the lives of free and enslaved people from Europe and Africa to Central and South America, including Conversos and freed Africans who were business partners and rivals, some involved in clandestine relations between dominated groups.

DOCUMENTS FROM THE AFRICAN PAST
ROBERT O. COLLINS
This fascinating collection spans two millennia. Primary sources describe ancient and medieval trade routes, China’s discovery of Africa, the slave trade, kingdoms, and court life in inner East and West Africa, and the experiences of Asian and European settlers, merchants, and colonialists.

Included are texts by foreign travelers, scholars, and administrators. The ideas of leaders who shaped modern Africa are represented by Jomo Kenyatta, Haile Selassie, Steven Biko, and Nelson Mandela.

The Horrors of Slavery

Robert Wedderburn, Ian McCalmann, Ed.

“This colorful, disreputable character is important to the African-American tradition. He became a leading proponent not only of abolition, but of what would be termed today a black theology of liberation, and a major figure in England’s republican underground of the Georgian and Regency periods. He was at once a witness and victim of West Indian Slavery. His autobiography is a vivid indictment of an execrable system; its accounts burn themselves into the reader’s mind like the sting of the slaver’s whip.”

THE FIRST SULTAN OF ZANZIBAR:
POWER AND TRADE IN THE 19TH CENTURY INDIAN OCEAN
BEATRICE NICOLINI
Indian and Arab merchants have dominated trade between East Africa and Asia for centuries. But in the nineteenth century, the British-French rivalry spilled over into the Indian Ocean, and pirates looted, adventurers sought their fortunes, and Italian spies and American whalers got in on the action. Meanwhile, the Sa’id bin Sultan moved the imperial capital to Zanzibar and manipulated the British-French rivalry to his advantage, with the slave trade playing a critical role. Nicolini provides a colorful portrait of a turbulent time.

The Bitter Legacy: African Slavery Past and Present

Edited by Alice Bellagamba, Sandra E. Greene, and Martin A. Klein

“A unique contribution to the study of the African slave trade in its highlighting the voices of men and women of slave ancestry and ownership within the continent of Africa.”

— African Studies Quarterly

This collection explores the effects of memories of African slavery on political, social, economic, and religious behavior today. The articles take a range of approaches: tackling the stigma of slave origins; investigating religious communion with slave ancestors; and examining the techniques used by descendants of slave traders and owners to overcome their guilt.

The variety of sources — interviews, proverbs, songs, art, and children’s stories — illuminate not only how people remember the past but also how they struggle to liberate themselves from it.

Jews and Judaism in African History
Richard Hull

“This book fills a gap in the broad history of Jews in Africa. Hull (NYU) teaches courses on the topic, about which he marshals an impressive body of literature in succinct prose with balanced judgments. This will be useful for students of all levels and as a text from teaching… Recommended.”
—Choice

“Hull provides the foundation for appreciating the longstanding presence and contradictory roles of Jews in African society.”

Jews of a Saharan Oasis
John Hunwick

“Thoroughly exploiting the extant Arabic writings on the subject, Hunwick examines the rise and purge of the Jewish communal outpost of Tlemcen.”
—International Journal of African Historical Studies

“John Hunwick pioneered the use of Arabic sources for writing African history. He has devoted his lifelong work to the study of Islamic Africa and to illuminating the importance of… Muslim African heritage… Hunwick is resurrecting Jewish voices silenced by al-Maghili’s vitriolic agenda.”

Jews of Nigeria: An Afro-Jewish Odyssey
William F.S. Miles

“A fascinating report about black Jews who have prospered in a country with the largest concentration of Muslims on the African continent.” —Ali A. Mazrui, SUNY Binghamton

“In Jews of Nigeria: An Afro-Judaic Odyssey, Miles shares life stories from this spiritually passionate community, as well as his own Judaic reflections as he celebrates Hanukka and a bar mitzvah with “Jubos” in Abuja, the capital of Nigeria.”
—Publisher’s Weekly

A concluding encounter with laureate Chinua Achebe reveals unexpected family connections to one of the most intriguing Jewish and African communities to emerge in modern times.

AFRICAN GEOPOLITICS

PHILIPPE HUGON

“A solid, thoughtful overview of Africa’s international politics. ... The book’s strengths are its good coverage of all major on-going issues, the historical and multi-disciplinary perspective it provides on these issues, and the accessible style of presentation.”

—International Journal of African Historical Studies

This book provides a brief outline of Africa’s history and concludes with the main current challenges: peace and security, food supplies, and sustainable development.

THE LETTERS AND OTHER WRITINGS OF GUSTAVUS VASSA (OLAUDAH EQUiano, THE AFRICAN)

DOCUMENTING ABOLITION OF THE SLAVE TRADE

KARLEE SAGOZNK

Gustave Vassa was on the vanguard of the anti-slavery movement in England at the end of the eighteenth century. He provided a voice for people of African descent in the British Atlantic world. His Interesting Narrative has influenced countless works, both fiction and nonfiction.

“This is an impressive book which makes an important contribution to advancing scholarly understanding of the life, identity and influence of Gustave Vassa . . . . This book is indispensable.”

AMISTAD: A HIDDEN NETWORK OF SLAVES AND MERCHANTS

MICHAEL ZEUSKE

“This very readable book will be accessible to wide audiences, scholars specialized in slavery and Atlantic studies, and students at all levels. The story moves from the most well known parts of this history, and the most central actors in it, to its less known but equally relevant aspects (the slavers, Africa, and Cuba).”

— New West Indian Guide

“Michael Zeuske’s work as historical detective reveals a new and crucial dimension of both the much-storied Amistad case and the larger illegal Atlantic slave trade.”

—Marcus Rediker, author of The Amistad Rebellion

Frobenius’ pivotal work on African culture represented a landmark study in ethnography. His writings, when discovered by young African intellectuals studying in Europe in the early 1900s, reverberated throughout the community of Africans in search of cultural legitimacy. Frobenius was credited with restoring Black Africa’s soul and identity in the early part of the last century.

“Well translated and thus pleasant to read.”

The editor consolidates thinking about the political dimension of Sufism across culture and history and offers new horizons for scholarly reflection on the socio-political role played by Sufism in both pre-modern and modern Muslim society. Sufism has been an active player in defining the societal nature of Islam, and this volume underscores the way in which it has played that role while adapting itself to changing political conditions. Regions discussed in detail are Sub-Saharan Africa and the Sudan.

BIOGRAPHY OF MAHOMMAH GARDO BAQUAQUA: HIS PASSAGE FROM SLAVERY TO FREEDOM IN AFRICA AND AMERICA

ROBIN LAW AND PAUL E. LOVEJOY, EDITORS

“This exemplary volume is worthy of study and emulation . . . . The extensive detail and clear overview of the present edition contrasts powerfully with the previous versions.”

—International Journal of African Historical Studies

Now in an expanded second edition, this remains one of the few biographies of a slave born in Africa who left a detailed account of his life and struggle for freedom in Africa and the Americas.

HISTORY OF A SLAVE

H.H. JOHNSTON

EDITOR, PAUL LOVEJOY

The tale follows a fictitious slave journey from the grasslands of Cameroon northward through the Sokoto empire in what is now Nigeria. Eventually, he is taken across the Sahara to North Africa. The details of life as an African slave come from accounts given personally to the author by slaves in the Barbary States and in West Equatorial Africa, particularly by Mbudikum people—slaves who witnessed cannibalism, brutal public executions, rape, and forced migrations, and also the inner workings of the Sultan’s court and the Sultan’s army.

African-derived religions enrich all aspects of Cuba’s social, cultural, and everyday life, and encompass all ethnic and social groups. Politics, art, and civil events such as weddings, funerals, festivals, and carnivals all possess distinctly Afro-Cuban characteristics. Miguel Barnet provides a concise guide to the various traditions and branches of Afro-Cuban religions.

“Barnet explores the mythology and practices of Afro-Cuban religious movements. He illuminates the complex pantheon of deities worshipped in each tradition and examines the rituals, music, and dance of each in a clear, straightforward manner. He also compares and contrasts Cuban practices with those in the African homelands.”

These stories lead readers into a marvelous and magical world: the extraordinary imaginations of Afro-Cubans. Destined to become a classic in its field, this book was the first to gather a sizeable sample of Cuban patakíes (myths) characteristic of the Regla de Ocha (or Santería), the most widespread Afro-Cuban religion practiced on the island.

“These fantastical tales . . . are exciting to read and thought-provoking in their responses to fundamental questions of popular theology and philosophy.”
