

The crooked line could swish through a forest of tall trees and swim the course of a mountain stream, while the straight line stays on the same path.

The crooked line could even circle around Mars and spiral through galaxies.