

Laurie Simons M.A. Parent Consultant
Distance Consultation

Welcome:

With distance (remote) consultation, you can meet with me from the comfort of your own home, and avoid the stress of travel and transitions. While most people usually expect to meet with their consultant in person in an office setting, distance consultation by video conference or by telephone has been shown to be as effective. I am an independent practitioner, and use the “Collaborative & Proactive Solutions” (CPS) model, (by Dr. Ross Greene) which lends itself well to distance consulting. One thing we will work on is developing a particular kind of conversation between you and your child. For more information, visit my website at www.lauriesimons.net.

Disclaimer:

Distance services (telephone, video conferencing, etc.) are for consultation purposes only. I am licensed as a counselor only in the state of Washington. If you live outside this state, I can provide consultation (as an independent consultant) regarding the application of the CPS approach to your situation, however if you require mental health or psychological services, please contact a professional who is licensed to practice in your state or region.

Sessions:

Sessions are scheduled by appointment only. Please give 24 hours notice if you are unable to keep your appointment. Full payment is due for missed appointments without 24 hours notice, except in the case of an emergency.

Fees:

Rates are $40 per half hour; $80 per hour. Payment is expected at or before time of service.
