“My policy has always been to look at each patient as if that person were a close relative. When making difficult decisions, I ask myself, ‘What would I want my doctor to do if this person were a family member?’” says Ali Ghahraman, M.D. “Consequently, I am always the patient’s advocate.”

Having cared for adult patients within the private practice and hospital settings for several years, Dr. Ghahraman has a wealth of experience and knowledge. He is attuned to the medical needs of his patients, and provides them with highly personalized care and attention.

Professional Qualifications

Prior to relocating to Orange County in 2002, Dr. Ghahraman was in private practice in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. He also was medical director of a sub-acute unit at Southpointe Healthcare Center in Milwaukee. In addition, he was assistant clinical professor in the department of medicine at the Medical College of Wisconsin.

Dr. Ghahraman received his medical training at Tehran University, in Iran, and completed his internship at St. Joseph Hospital, in Paterson, New Jersey. He served his internal medicine residency at the Medical College of Wisconsin, in Milwaukee.

Personal Interests

In addition to his private practice, Dr. Ghahraman volunteers his services at Camino Health Center, in San Juan Capistrano. He appreciates the mild Southern California winters, which give him more opportunities to pursue mountain biking, hiking and gardening. Dr. Ghahraman also enjoys music and plays the keyboard.
