1. Greater Atlanta Impact—Students served annually reflects projected 2018 figure (Figure includes all Year Up locations)
3. Independent evaluation showed that Year Up graduates earned 30% more than non-graduates (“A Promising Start”, Economic Mobility Corporation, 2011)
4. Graduates employed and/or enrolled in postsecondary education within 4 months of completing the program.
5. Average starting wage of $17.50/hour or approximately $35,000/year; minimum wage: http://www.dol.gov/whd/minwage/q-a.htm
6. College credits may vary by market and college partnership
7. Through January 2018
8. 90% of corporate partners would recommend the Year Up program to a colleague or friend
9. Admission statistics reflect the classes of July 2017 to July 2018 combined
10. As a method of assessing student readiness during the admissions process, Year Up talks with candidates about challenges that may pose a barrier to their success in the program, and potential solutions.
11. As of January 2018

Year Up opened up a world of opportunity and a network that I couldn’t have gained on my own. Some of us just need a shot to show that we are bright assets to our companies and communities.

Student Story

Ruth Bowen, Year Up Graduate

Hired as a Project Analyst at Bank of America

I always expected to be a corporate woman someday. I saw myself as better than struggling to find a job and pay bills, but I just did not have the financial resources to start a career that I would be proud of. While job-hunting, a receptionist recommended Year Up. Learning a skill, getting paid, going to school, and potentially earning a job sounded much better than acquiring more debt while trying to find work.

Without the skills and network Year Up provided, I don’t know how I would have landed this position. I truly believe in this movement and recommend Year Up to friends and family. Young adults are intelligent, proactive, and hardworking—we just haven’t had access to opportunities. Some of us just need a shot to show that we are bright assets to our companies and communities.

I am hired as a Project Analyst at Bank of America.
