

REALISTIC JOB PREVIEW

- In the RJP, a CVS Health employee in the job describes what the work is like, what tasks they perform, and the challenges and rewards (the things they like and do not like) of the work.
- It also describes the working environment, such as the amount of customer interaction, the pace of the work, and the types of rules and procedures there are.
- We hope that it provides you enough information to decide for yourself if you think the job is right for you.
- You will not have to answer questions in this section.

DRIVERS

- This exercise asks about the type of work environment that motivates you.
- You will be presented with two statements and asked to indicate which statement reflects what you would like more in a job.
- While you may see the same statement more than once, you will not see the same pair of statements more than once.

You'll be shown a series of paired statements like those you see here, and asked to indicate which statement best reflects your ideal job.

I prefer a job where...

I wear many different hats each day or

I can be the best among my peers

SITUATIONAL JUDGMENT TEST

- This exercise presents problem situations that a CVS Health employee could experience on the job.
- You are presented with four possible responses you could take if you were in the situation and you must indicate which response you would most likely take – and which response you would least likely take.
- Note that this is not a multiple choice question with one correct response. All responses are possible and you must make two selections – your most likely response and your least likely response.

A customer comes up to you and is obviously upset. She immediately asks to speak to your supervisor.

Assuming all options are feasible, what would you be most and least likely to do?

Do not risk upsetting the customer further. Go get your supervisor.

Let the customer know that you'd be happy to help her with whatever she needs.

Ask the customer if the issue is anything that you can help her with.

Ask the customer why she is upset to see if it's something you could help her with.

Most Least

DATA ACCURACY

- In this exercise you will be presented with different tasks related to entering and checking data, such as taking inventory or comparing prescriptions to medicine bottles.
- You will enter data correctly or verify that data presented is correct.

WORK STYLES

- This exercise asks you about your style at work.
- Like the “Drivers” section, you will read two statements and choose which statement is more like you. Also, you will choose how much like you it is.
- While you may see the same statement more than once, you will not see the same pair of statements more than once.
- This is the longest section. Remember, the VJT is not timed. If you feel tired, this might be a good time to take a break!

CVS Health Is An Equal Opportunity Employer

CVS Health screens over a million job applicants a year. To be fair and objective in making hiring decisions, we consider experience, job related skills, and interview performance. One way we evaluate applicants is by having applicants to most store roles take the Virtual Job Tryout (VJT). Some important things to remember as you take the VJT:

- This is an online assessment that you must successfully complete to move forward in the hiring process, but it does not guarantee that you will receive a job offer
- You will learn about the job and decide if it's the right fit for you
- CVS Health learns about your skills, abilities, and experiences to see if you're a good fit for the job
- You do not need previous experience to successfully complete the VJT
- Once you complete the VJT, you cannot retake it for six months
- The VJT is untimed – some people take 20 minutes and others take an hour
- We encourage you to set aside an hour in a quiet location to take the VJT
