

The Boilermakers National Health and Welfare Fund understands the growing concern and fear surrounding the Novel Coronavirus (COVID-19). The Fund's Participants have an expedited mechanism for quick access to guidance and care. Amwell's online providers can help.

Amwell is a great option for easy access to a physician from your computer or cell phone. The U.S. Centers for Disease Control (CDC) is recommending prior to going to a healthcare facility that you call a physician for guidance. If you are experiencing symptoms and are concerned, Amwell can provide you with answers. Individuals that are determined to be medium or high risk of having the virus will be provided assistance in determining the next course of action and providers will help coordinate referrals for in-person care. If an individual is considered at low or no risk of having the virus, they will be given home care instructions and/or other treatments.

No Cost. The Amwell telehealth benefit allows you to have electronic video visits with a doctor by using the web or mobile app at no cost to you. Amwell doctors are available 24/7.

Be prepared and sign up in advance. To enroll, visit www.amwell.com or download the app. Be sure to use the service key BOILERMAKERS to ensure that your visit is free of charge.
