

S.1 Puts Arizona's Elections at Risk

S.1 would cancel Arizona's vital election safeguards and centralize power with career politicians in D.C.

UNDERMINING VOTER CONFIDENCE IN ARIZONA

- Arizona has voter ID requirements to protect its elections, but S.1 would cancel those protections.
 - Voter ID laws are supported by more than three-in-four voters.
- S.1 would force Arizona to allow unrestricted ballot trafficking by political operatives. Arizona has safeguards that make this practice illegal, but S.1 would eliminate them.
 - Under current law, voters can get assistance from a family member, household member, or caregiver when they return their absentee ballots.
 - S.1 forces communities to let political operatives and activists collect ballots without supervision.
 - In the past, operatives and activists have abused their access to intimidate voters and destroy ballots.
- Arizona would be forced to adopt automatic voter registration and rush its implementation, risking the registration of individuals who are not eligible to vote.
- Same day registration would become mandatory, despite Arizona cutting off voter registration 29 days before election day.
 - Election officials would have little to no time to verify information, jeopardizing election security.
- Arizona requires mail-in ballots be received by 7:00pm on Election Day, but S.1 would require ballots arriving days late to be counted, potentially delaying election results and risking fraud.

AN UNCONSTITUTIONAL FEDERAL TAKEOVER OF ELECTIONS

- As S.1 advances to a vote in the Senate, the left is continuing its push to weaken election safeguards and implement an unprecedented and unconstitutional takeover of our elections.
- Progressive activists want to take election administration out of the hands of Arizonans and send it to career politicians and bureaucrats in Washington.
- Recent polling confirms that S.1's core policies are deeply unpopular. Most Americans want to add safeguards to voting, not take them away.
- S.1 would impose reckless policies that put trust in elections at risk, from eliminating voter ID laws to making partisan ballot trafficking legal in every community.
- In fact, S.1's mandates are so sweeping that election officials have voiced grave concerns. It risks chaos, confusion, and fraud.
