MassArt board votes against arming campus police

Hurley said that every campus police officer is fitted with a custom Kevlar vest, something MassArt “acknowledges that our officers face danger and may end up being shot at while in the performance of our duties. However, here we stand today to try and rationalize why we would need to be equipped with a firearm.”

MassArt is located within a cluster of other schools and universities: Northeastern University, Boston Latin School, Simmons University, Massachusetts College of Pharmacy and Health Science, and Wentworth Institute of Technology are within walking distance.

Officer William Goldman, who started three months ago, told the Board that “it’s our students’ and staff’s lives you are gambling with” and that “we have nothing to gain but everything to lose.”

Officials told the Board that campus police officers have undergone the same training as other municipal police departments and that they know the layout of MassArt buildings, staff and students better than Boston police officers who respond to emergency situations at the school.

Brianna Florio, a 2017 graduate, told the board that campus police officers are “walking targets in uniform. … Think for a minute about what would happen if we had an active shooter. Our cops would be our front-line and it would be a bloodbath. Everyone would die.”

“I don’t feel safe around guns,” one faculty member said at the meeting. “I felt I needed to speak because I’m a very sensitive person and there are many other sensitive people on campus and I wanted to speak for me and for them.”

“We’re extremely disappointed. Clearly, the board is ignoring longstanding, accepted safety practices, putting the lives of staff and students in danger,” Durkin told the Herald after the vote. “Even their own consultants are recommending their officers are armed. They’re going against their experts.”

“I support the board in their decision and I appreciate the deliberative way in which they arrived at this decision, while looking through the lens of the mission and values of MassArt,” Nelson said in a statement to the Herald. “With the board, I express my support of MassArt’s public safety staff, and I am grateful to them and to our entire community for sharing in the process of making this decision. We are a community that cares for one another, and while members of our community will still have different views about this decision, we all affirm the mission of MassArt and we share the common goal of making our campus a safe and inclusive environment.”

During a contentious and packed public meeting, the trustees voted 8-2 to continue its policy of campus police officers remaining unarmed, ending a yearslong saga that had frustrated many students, faculty and officers.

“It is not only unnecessary, but unwise to change our current policy,” MassArt president David Nelson said before the board vote. “To be clear, our currently policy is that officers remain unarmed … and that remains my position today.”

James Durkin, a legislative director at the trade union American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees, told the board that “continuing down this path of delay, by striving for some dreamlike, utopian campus insulated from the real world, you are placing the lives of these officers, the staff, and most importantly the students in jeopardy.”

“My biggest fear is that when our officers are patrolling the surrounding area, a community that we are already infiltrated and a gentrifying force, we will hurt their children and elders,” one student said at Tuesday’s meeting.

MassArt police Sgt. Matt Hurley told the trustees that officer turnover is “a well-known and expensive problem that this department faces” as a result of the school’s unarmed policy.

“The MassArt community has been done a disservice as it has presented a false sense of security,” Hurley said. “Parents have an expectation that when they send their child off to school at MassArt, that since there is a police department there, they have nothing to worry about. This is just wrong.”
AFSCME Legislation

The UMass tuition credit bill that provides for annual increases in the value of the credit to help keep pace with increases in the overall costs to a student and guarantees the benefit will not be cut for those covered by a collective bargaining agreement due to claims of inadequate funding by the U-Mass Board of trustees. (Senate Docket 568 Filed by Senator Pacheco)

Group 2 Retirement reclassification for campus police officers: (House Docket 1793 filed by Rep. Donato)

So-called 111F benefits for campus police officers injured in the line of duty – the same benefit afforded to municipal police officers. (House Docket 1792 filed by Rep. Donato and Senate Docket 146 filed by Senator Pacheco) NOTE: the reason this was filed twice is because Senator Pacheco filed the 111F bill for us last session and wanted to refile this time too. At the appropriate time in the process, we will simply combined both bills into one.

The above bills are the ones that are specific to Local 1067. We are also working in coalition with other public-sector unions on GIC, Janus, Right to Strike and Workplace Bullying related legislation to name a few.

Very special thanks to Jim Durkin of Council 93 for all of his hard work on this, and the arming of the Mass Art Officers.

Thank You
NOTE: Form 30’s are ONLY to be used for desk audits when applying, or if you are being considered for a reclassification!

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts
Board of Regents of Higher Education

Boston, Massachusetts 02108-1530

TO: State and Community College Personnel Directors

FROM: Carleton H. LaPorte, Jr.
Vice Chancellor/Director of Employee Relations

RE: AFSCME, 1067 - Coalition One Agreement

DATE: August 30, 1985

The Employee Relations Division of the Board of Regents has received several complaints relative to the use of "Form 30's". Please be advised that it is the position of this office that "Form 30's" are to be used as an "information gathering" tool and should not be used to replace existing job specifications either in postings or advertisements.

In the 1983-1986 Collective Bargaining Agreement, we have agreed with AFSCME that the "classification structure and the accompanying job specifications have been created by the Commonwealth through its Department of Personnel Administration for the purposes of describing the duties and responsibilities of each job title." (Article 23, Section 1.C.).

... However, as you are aware, these job specifications are descriptive rather than restrictive and employees may be assigned incidental, related or emergency duties.

If you have any questions in this regard please contact me.

Weingarten Rights!
Weingarten Rights. Know them, Use them! (SAVE THIS INFORMATION)

If you are unsure if they apply, ask for them anyway. Better to be safe than sorry.

Know your rights! Please read below!

Employee Rights in “Weingarten” Meetings – Know Them, Use Them!

Beware that management is not obligated to inform employees of their Weingarten rights — employees must ask for them. Unlike Miranda rights — where police are required to tell a suspect of his/her right to an attorney, etc. — employees must ask for their Weingarten rights.

Weingarten — State the following:

“If the discussion in this meeting could in any way lead to my being disciplined or terminated or impact on my personal working conditions, I request that my steward, local officer or union representative be present. Without union representation, I choose not to answer any further questions at this time. This is my right under a Supreme Court decision called Weingarten”.

Weingarten rights apply during investigatory interviews when a supervisor questions an employee to obtain information that could be used as grounds for discipline for either you or a colleague. When an employee believes such a meeting may lead to discipline, he/she has the right to request union representation.

These basic Weingarten rights stem from a Supreme Court's decision.

- The employee must request representation before or during the meeting.
- After an employee makes the request, the supervisor has these choices:
  - grant the request and wait for the union representative's arrival;
  - deny the request and end the meeting immediately; or
  - give the employee the choice of either ending the meeting or continuing without representation.

(Never, ever, ever, continue without representation! EVER!)

If the supervisor denies the request and continues to ask questions, the employee has a right to refuse to answer!

In addition, the supervisor is committing an unfair labor practice.

As always, call your Chief Steward if you have questions or if you are unsure!

Please note: Do NOT think that you are bothering your steward if you have a question or a problem with your supervisor and/or management. That is what we are here for.

Making Higher Education Happen in Massachusetts
Janus v. AFSCME

The United States Supreme Court has ruled in a case that could affect your union-negotiated job security, pay and benefits. The case is Janus v. AFSCME Council 31, and you need to know the facts:

- Anti-worker billionaires brought the case. The same 1-percenters who have been rigging the system against working people poured millions more into buying a ruling that could hurt you, your co-workers and working families.

- They want to bust unions. They know that unions like ours must represent every worker equally, even if some choose not to join as members. They convinced the Court to say that workers who receive all the benefits of a union contract and union representation no longer have to chip in to cover their fair share of the costs in an attempt to hurt the strength of our union.

- They want to sap our power. They know the power of a union comes from our strength in numbers. Corporate bigwigs have the power of money, but we have the power of people. That’s why they plan to spend tens of millions to convince people like you to quit your union.

- They want to divide us. The more people who stick together in our union, the more power we have to negotiate good pay, benefits and job security. If people quit, that power goes away.

You can defend yourself! You can do one simple thing, right now, to prevent their attacks from hurting the job security and union-negotiated benefits you deserve and count on.

Let us know you’ll never quit your union by signing the pledge today.

Public service workers never quit on our communities, and we never quit on each other.

No court case can change that.

Don’t be a Janus!
