

Dear Friends,

You are a blessing. Many things come to mind as we write this letter. We want to say thank you for all you do for Camp Caroline. The recent devastation caused by Hurricane Florence presents many challenges for all of us living in eastern North Carolina. Those of us living in the immediate area couldn't help but be a little depressed as we witnessed our friends and neighbors struggle to know what to do. We drove along Janiero Road and witnessed so much damage; our hearts were broken. We waited for the inspectors to determine the safety of going on the camp property.

I am sure each of us experienced different emotions as we observed the downed trees, water damage, utility outages, etc. But Camp Caroline is still here. Our hearts began to mend. Before long we heard chain saws humming, laughter as work progressed, and hope begin to build. Many of you came to the camp and made this possible. As Thanksgiving approaches we thank all of you for being a part of this restoration. Our burden is lighter now and we can remember back to the wonderful summer. Many of you were a part of this very busy time. Thank you so much for all you did to make it a success. You are a blessing.

As Christmas approaches we feel the excitement of the season. We feel the excitement of new things to happen. You are all in our prayers. Again, thank you for all you do for Camp Caroline. We love you. You are a blessing.
