

Celebrating Our 4th year of Astrosociology

Professor Ingraham and Darlene Van de Grift an Executive Director of I-Exo have been collaborating on the delivery of a course called Astrosociology and Consciousness Communities at Purchase College, NY. They are now in the fourth year of teaching students about how to expand the universe from within--the title of their forthcoming book. Ingraham and Van de Grift ground the course material in past and current research while acknowledging how many related knowledges were previously marginalized. They explore topics such as the quantum field, the role of consciousness, past life research, multidimensional beings and experiencers. In this expansion experience, students become more curious about new knowledges, the future of humanity, and their perception of the realm of possibilities. Astrosociology now has a following among Purchase students who report that they were inspired and energized to know and realize more.
