2020 Andy Markwart Horizon Award

Presented by the AAEA Professional Improvement Foundation and John Deere

INTRODUCTION

The Andy Markwart Horizon Award, presented by the American Agricultural Editors' Association's Professional Improvement Foundation (PIF) and John Deere, is an annual award given to an AAEA member who embodies the youthful vigor, energy, passion, dedication and creativity shown by Andy in his volunteer work for AAEA for many years. Andy died in 2006 from heart problems.

The winner will be named each year at the Agricultural Media Summit (AMS).

THE ENDOWMENT

John Deere, where Andy worked for many years, is endowing the program with a total gift of $25,000. Each year, the winner of the award will receive a $2,500 stipend, which can be used for attending the International Federation of Agricultural Journalists (IFAJ) annual meeting, the AMS meeting or a special class/seminar/workshop, etc. A class/seminar/workshop must be approved by John Deere and PIF.

THE AWARD CRITERIA

The Andy Markwart Horizon Award winner must meet the following criteria and provide the following application materials:

- Open to any AAEA member age 35 and younger.
- References. Two professional references (one from current employer).
- Essay: 500 words or less which describe your interest in receiving the stipend, why you believe you are deserving, your professional goals, etc.
- Resume

The application deadline is postmarked by August 31, 2020.

SELECTION PROCESS

- The winner will be selected by a group of three judges. Selection of judges is left to the discretion of PIF.

THE PRESENTATION

The person selected for the award will be recognized at the AAEA awards presentation Tuesday, November 17, 2020, during the Agricultural Media Summit in Kansas City, Missouri.
