Craven Thompson and Associates, Inc. was prime consultant for the full range of landscape architectural/engineering services required for this 5.5 million dollars, 53-acre sports facility for the City of Coconut Creek. This unique facility provides a wide variety of active and passive recreation opportunities for the residents of Coconut Creek. The amenities include two soccer fields, four baseball/softball fields, two tennis courts, two in-line hockey rinks, two unique tot lots, a nature trail through a preserved conservation area, a jogging path, a recreated wetland, a lakefront boardwalk, a group picnic shelter, two family picnic shelters, a restroom/picnic shelter, a concession/restroom/administration building, a maintenance building with compound and numerous parking areas.

From the preliminary site planning, through design development, construction document preparation, bidding and construction, Craven Thompson was responsible for the project. The grand opening celebration of the park was in January 2001.
