Please join us as the Alaska Native community gathers to set the course for our people and lead all Alaskans to a brighter future.

December 13-15, 2021 | Anchorage, Alaska
Dear AFN Members and Convention Delegates,

Due to pandemic-related health and safety concerns, our 55th Annual Convention has been postponed to December 13-15, 2021. AFN is still planning for an in-person Convention at the Dena’ina Center in Anchorage. The AFN Board will make a final decision to proceed to an in-person gathering or pivot to virtual on October 15. Two evenings of Quyana Alaska and the Native Arts Showcase are also planned.

Please keep in mind that the pandemic situation in Alaska is constantly changing and could change drastically enough to affect our final decision to proceed. As we have been doing since the coronavirus pandemic hit Alaska, we make decisions based on the guidance of health professionals and scientists at the Alaska Native Tribal Health Consortium, the State of Alaska Department of Health and Human Services, and the U.S. Center for Disease Control. Our top priority is the safety of everyone who attends the Convention. To that end, AFN will develop a protective COVID mitigation plan for the Convention which could include masking, social distancing, room capacity restrictions, and vaccine/negative test requirements.

Please register and start making your travel plans. See page 25 for Alaska Airlines’ discount code. We'll send you more travel info in the coming weeks.

This year’s theme is “ANCSA at 50: Empowering Our Future.” The passage of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act fifty years ago was a groundbreaking, remarkable achievement for Alaska. A model around the world of Indigenous self-determination, ANCSA has led to tremendous economic benefits and opportunities for our people and for all Alaskans.

We will proudly celebrate that accomplishment while acknowledging there is plenty more work to be done. This year’s theme emphasizes the importance of addressing the collective work ahead of us to empower our people and face the challenges of the future together. Since its passage, ANCSA has been amended in significant and technical ways. AFN recognizes that there is unfinished business and unmet promises, particularly in the area of subsistence rights and food security, public safety and law enforcement, and economic development.

We sincerely hope you’ll join us December 13-15, 2021 in Anchorage at the Dena’ina Center. Please register by filling out the form in this packet or going to the fillable form online.

Sincerely,

Julie Kitka
President

As we have been doing since the coronavirus pandemic hit Alaska, the AFN board makes decisions based on the guidance of health professionals and scientists at the Alaska Native Tribal Health Consortium, the State of Alaska Department of Health and Human Services, and the U.S. Center for Disease Control. Our top priority is the safety of everyone who attends the Convention. To that end, AFN will develop a protective COVID mitigation plan for the Convention which could include masking, social distancing, room capacity restrictions, and vaccine/negative test requirements.

December 13-15, 2021 | Anchorage, Alaska
Dear Supporter,

Due to pandemic-related health and safety concerns, our 55th Annual Convention has been postponed to December 13-15, 2021, as an in-person gathering at the Dena'ina Center in Anchorage. Live coverage of the proceedings and Native cultural performances is available on statewide public television and radio, and online.

Our convention theme, “ANCSA at 50: Empowering Our Future,” commemorates the Alaska Native community’s groundbreaking achievement in the passage of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act of 1971 (ANCSA) while rededicating ourselves to work together in taking on the challenges of today and those that lay ahead.

ANCSA has become a model around the world of Indigenous self-determination. Decades after their creation, Native corporations have become powerful economic engines with a profound effect on the Alaska economy. AFN’s essential partnership with the business community reflects ANCSA’s core tenet of economic development.

Because of sponsorship by the business community, the Convention year after year convenes thousands of AFN delegates, organizations, businesses, government agencies, elected officials at all levels, and leaders from around the globe. We look forward to hearing from you regarding your sponsorship.

With gratitude,

Ana Hoffman  Joe Nelson  Julie Kitka
Co-chair        Co-chair        President

We highlight our sponsors across a spectrum of communications tools, extending sponsor exposure well beyond the in-person attendees. Community-minded businesses and partners capitalize on the advertising and marketing opportunities to outreach to the Native community, often seeing an increase in business activities and engagement in building and strengthening valuable relationships. The mission of AFN is to enhance and promote the cultural, economic and political voice of the Alaska Native community. The convention is the principal forum and voice for the Alaska Native community in dealing with critical issues of public policy and government. As a sponsor, your company will make a significant contribution to the success of the convention and AFN's mission.

A Growing Success Story
Alongside the plenary sessions, AFN hosts nearly 100 trade show exhibitors and over 170 artists in the renowned Customary Native Arts Show. As demonstrated by their continuing popularity with sold-out venues of 5,000 tickets, the evening cultural performances celebrate Alaska’s vibrant Native dance and music traditions. The closing banquet with over 1,200 attendees provides an opportunity for Native leaders, sponsors and statewide partners to gather for a social evening of entertainment and celebration. In partnership with key community-supporting organizations, the Alaska Native Tribal Health Consortium, the Southcentral Foundation and the Alaska Legal Services Corporation, AFN hosts a health fair as well as a free walk-in legal clinic.
