

About: Lisa Safaeinili has been working with public and private non-profits agencies since 1988. She has a B.S. degree in Pre-Medical Studies, is a Registered Dietitian, and has a Masters in Public Health. She is a frequent speaker at conferences and noted trainer. Since 2002, Lisa has been the Executive Director of Westminster Free Clinic, growing the organization to serving over 7000 uninsured working poor and homeless families each year. She developed the exclusive 2-year youth internship program at the Clinic, enabling about 80 high school students to serve their community, develop transferrable job skills, and consider careers in healthcare. Lisa has encouraged corporate and community partnerships, making WFC able to offer other life enriching services, so Clinic patients live healthier and make healthier lifestyle choices. Lisa is a huge proponent of empowering youth and adults of low-income, uninsured families, and offering them the tools and skills to give back and help inspire others in their local community.

About: Westminster Free Clinic (2019 Nonprofit of the Year) operates a 100% free medical clinic every Wednesday evening in Thousand Oaks and Tuesday evening in Oxnard, serving as a safety-net for the working poor and uninsured, those with no other affordable options and fill gaps as needed. The clinic is first come first serve, providing access to a full range of health care and counseling. Staffed entirely by volunteers, including doctors, nurses, dentists and other medical professionals, they also serve as a training site for high school students via a 2-year internship program.

About: Zonta Training and Advocacy Program (ZTAP - run by the Westminster Free Clinic) is a paraprofessional training program providing a safe environment for women to recognize, prevent and effectively respond to abuse. Begun in 2006, it receives annual financial support from the Zonta CVA club. ZTAP's 7-week training programs are held at local schools and conducted entirely in Spanish. ZTAP mission is to reach the women in need of the program, let them know resources available, empower them to help others and in the process, help themselves, and have children grow up in non-violent families.

About: Zonta International is a 101 year old global organization of professionals empowering women worldwide through service and advocacy. Zontians volunteer their time, expertise, and support to local and international service and advocacy programs. The Zonta Club of the Conejo Valley Area was established in 1972. It's members live in Ventura County, CA and the neighboring communities in western Los Angeles County. The CVA Club has a rich history of substantial service and contribution to the local area, the District and Zonta International.
