UNIT 2 Lesson 3 Reading Emails: The Lost Cousin

Read and answer.

Which two families are going to meet up? Where and why?

Lucy was searching for her cousin Alice's email address. The two girls hadn't seen each other for over a year. Then she had an idea. She could try her cousin's friend Gracie. She switched on her laptop and browsed through her address book. Nothing! Then she <sup>move up and</sup> scrolled down and noticed a folder labelled 'FRIENDS—OLD'. Yes! There it was: gracie28@swiftmail.com. Lucie's first email bounced back to her. So she carefully typed the exact email address again.

Hi Gracie,

If you have my cousin Alice's email address, could you please forward this email to her? Thanks!

Love, Lucy

Dear Alice, Where are you? Please send me your email address. Hope you had a good birthday!

Love, Lucy

The next day, Lucy received an email from Alice. Below the header was this message:

Lucy!

You are just great! You managed to track me down! I was so happy when I saw your email sitting in my Inbox. I would love to see all your family again. I will speak to Mum and Dad. Why don't we meet up for lunch at a restaurant halfway between our homes? Who knows—maybe our dads could forget their past differences.

Two days later, at supper, after a few private phone calls, Mum suggested a trip for the following Sunday. 'Lucy wants to visit an old friend she hasn't seen for some time. We could all meet up for lunch.'

'I'm pretty busy on Sunday,' said Dad.

'Please, Dad!' pleaded Lucy. 'She and I were such good friends.'

'OK, OK,' agreed Dad. 'Which friend is it anyway? I met some of them.'

'I'll tell you about her in the car on the way to lunch,' said Lucy.
