

To the citizens of Farmville and our surrounding area,

Another week of COVID-19 awareness and preparedness is behind us. Thankfully, the citizens of Farmville remain healthy. Flattening the curve remains a vital part of keeping our community healthy. Granted, there are some reasons to leave your homes...work, necessities for your home, food, medication. I continue to urge you to use common sense in following the guidelines set forth by the CDC regarding protecting yourself and everyone you encounter each day.

Please think of those who are not able to fight this illness. So many of our friends and neighbors fall under the category of high risk. I encourage our churches, civic groups, social groups and neighborhoods to check on your congregations, club members, friends and neighbors. If you see a need, do what you can to help, but don't put yourself at risk. You know the drill...practice social distancing, wash your hands frequently, limit your time in public places and if you are sick or not feeling well, stay at home. Do not change your behavior to avoid being infected. Assume you are infected and change your behavior to avoid infecting someone else.

As always, take care of yourselves and each other. The Town of Farmville will continue to keep you informed as information is made available to us. Be safe. Stay well.

John Moore, Mayor
