

HGIntelligence & Security

HGI brings a team who are at the forefront of their fields, monitoring rapidly evolving security, governance, economic, development, political, social, cultural, religious, and civil and human rights issues at an unrivaled proximity. They speak the local dialects, know the culture and can move freely within communities. Our network has access across many different networks employing innovative adaptive methods to gather population data and information about the operating environment through both passive and active gathering channels. HGI has identified unique power bases, networks, and lines of influence within the cross-sections of fragile communities.

Our products are comprehensive, exposing opportunities within unique networks in counter-terrorism, analysis of causal relationships, and secondary and third-order effects of events. HGI recognizes the value of PE and its role in developing CT strategy, development programs and innovative business solutions. We are committed to bringing our clients the most complete and accurate analysis products using methodologies of what we refer to as the "Other 50%" and "Beyond Kevlar". HGI with our highly skilled members, partners and innovative solutions are accustomed to working in high risk conflict and grey zones but also within the planning of missions, allocation of funding, and development of overall counter terrorism strategy.

HAYES GROUP
INTERNATIONAL