

LCRC Meeting January 22, Waldoboro

OUR JANARY MEETING:

The LCRC met in Waldoboro, January 22, 2020

Our Featured Speaker was Maine GOP Vice Chair Nick Isgro spoke of the urgent need to ensure President Trump is reelected to complete his cleaning of the swamp. The "Conquest by Migration" crowd is working quietly to turn red states blue by flooding those states with cheap labor through immigration and illegal migration along with resettlement of 'refugees', most of whom will be denied refugee status. He told the group our objectives are not out of reach but Republicans must not be afraid of being called names and we must support our candidates and get out Republican voters.

The January Meeting was exceptionally well attended by an enthusiastic crowd.

Three Representatives of the Collins campaign were present to answer questions, collect signatures, and sign up volunteers for the campaign.

Candidates Jay Allen (U. S. House, District 1) and Dana Dow (Maine Senate, District 13) gathered signatures and spoke to the assembled group.

Meeting Summary

Both candidates spoke of the changed election environment and the challenges presented by out of state money and PAC financed advertising.

Gordon Isleib of Damariscotta spoke of the need to focus on building town committees and greet newly registered Republicans as a means of growing the Party.

Vice Chair Joe Grant spoke of the Grand Opening of LCRC headquarters and reminded the group that sponsorship for Headquarters rental and operating expenses was needed. He reported that local Republicans had placed several letters and articles in the most recent issue of the Lincoln County News and announced that there would be Caucus training at the Headquarters in February.

Finance Chair Judy Fossel reported on the results of the December event at the library in Damariscotta.

Funds were approved to support the Lincoln Day Brunch, February Rally and Caucus at the Great Salt Bay School, LCRC-Helen Weston Memorial Scholarship awards, and a contribution to the Jay Allen Campaign.

Vice Chair Grant announced that the Trump Campaign had offered to sponsor a "Watch Party" at the Headquarters for the State of the Union address, Feb 4.
