

Jennifer Betz

Jennifer was born and raised here in Orangeville.

She is the owner/operator of Déjà Vu Diner on Broadway.

Having worked in restaurants for years, she decided it was time to make the move to purchase her own establishment.

Her motivation to take this step was her passion for the restaurant industry and being able to create a place that welcomed everyone while giving back to those in need.

Déjà vu has, over the years been recognized as a community leader, they support many of our community's nonprofits and are champions at assisting those in need through a variety of charitable initiatives.

When our community struggles Jennifer and her Déjà vu team are there to help.

Jennifer and her husband have three adult daughters who all help at the restaurant when they can.

Jennifer joined the CLD Board of Directors because she felt it would be a good learning experience for herself and an opportunity to do something she had never done before.

Jennifer looks forward to the many initiatives that CLD is embarking upon in the coming year.
