

Missouri State Thespian Performance Scholarship Audition Links

Students who audition for the Missouri State Thespian Performance Scholarships will be seen by a number of university representatives at the annual conference. Each of those theater professionals wants to see you do your best. It is a great idea for each applicant to take a moment and review a few of the ideas those university theater staff members use in guiding individuals who audition for their programs. Their advice can be invaluable in helping you succeed and avoid common pitfalls you might not foresee.

Here is a link to a number of theater performance programs and websites that offer prospective students audition tips and guidance. You can find information about selecting a monologue, selecting a song, performing selections and presenting yourself both personally and artistically. These links are only intended to offer you a window into the thinking of the directors and recruiters who will see you and ultimately offer you opportunities. Missouri State Thespians does not endorse any specific college program, or control the content of their sites.

Missouri State University (Springfield, MO)

<http://theatreanddance.missouristate.edu/assets/TheatreandDance/AuditionPreparation.pdf>

Webster University (St. Louis, MO)

<http://www.webster.edu/conservatory/how-to-apply/auditionpreparation.html>

From auditioningforcollege.com

<http://auditioningforcollege.com/musical-theatre/rep/do-not-lists-overdone-songs-and-monologues/>

University of Michigan (Ann Arbor, MI)

http://www.music.umich.edu/departments/theatre/auditions/aud_bfa_perf-act.htm

Cincinnati Conservatory of Music (Cincinnati, OH)

http://ccm.uc.edu/theatre/musical_theatre/auditions1/dos_and_donts.html

From backstage.com

<http://www.backstage.com/advice-for-actors/resources/3-things-know-nail-your-college-audition/>