Clues

1. Hermes got the gig of God of Roadways and Travelers just because his dad was friggin' Zeus. Talk about _____!
2. Medical professional for which the U.S. is sorely in need, explaining why these professional workers from the Philippines come en masse to fill these important positions. (Initials only.)
3. _____ are a form of mass transportation of often false or scandalous information. (Hint: also the name of a famous 70s album with the song "You can go your own way".)
4. East Asian capital city whose rapid transit system has signage in English and multiple Chinese languages.
5. A central character in a children's series about a white settler family that, like so many others, traveled to (and appropriated) Native American lands; he himself had to travel great distances to find work before the advent of modern transportation.
6. First home of animal known for its mass migration south in the winter.
7. Communities need to relocate again and again as _____ devastate vulnerable areas again and again in certain parts of South Asia.
8. Initials of British engineer who harnessed high-pressure steam to invent the world's first actually-working steam-powered train. Not to be confused with James Watt or Thomas Newcomen (dudes we've never heard of, either, to say nothing of folks who likely contributed but who history has ignored...).
9. Source of energy for some mass transit systems, like the one in Santiago, Chile. Now that's hot!
10. Residents of NYC, Glasgow, Tokyo, and Beijing call it the subway, but in Moscow, Paris, and Mexico City, among other places, the rapid transit system is known as the _____.
11. You may need to ride the bus if the _____-man takes your car.

Clues

12. Tool to help navigate any mass transit system. (Fun fact: also the initials of the second female Transportation Secretary, Elizabeth Dole being the first.)
13. We can put a _____ on the _____ but our infrastructure is unsafe.
14. A _____-way is a new, ecological form of urban transit.
15. A first-class _____ on an airplane can mean different things - more space, or, as with some airlines, not much more space but no one in the middle.
