Child's Name

It's hard to believe that we have grown so far apart from each other. I know we have said and done some things that can never be taken back, I am truly sorry for that. Things have not been as good as they should be for us and want to make amends. I think that forgiveness can make us grow closer and in time will heal the hurt and resentment between us. I hope you feel the same way too. I don't want another day to go by without us reconciling. I love you so much and ask for your forgiveness.
