

National Tribal Air Association

Indoor Air Quality (IAQ) Work Group

The NTAA Indoor Air Quality Work Group is a group of Tribal professionals with an interest in indoor air quality in Tribal homes and other buildings.

IAQ refers to the air quality in and around buildings and structures as it relates to the health and comfort of the building occupants.

NTAA's IAQ Work Group strives to help improve IAQ in Indian Country by developing policy actions on IAQ issues including:

IAQ home assessments • Healthy Home IAQ Kits • Water intrusion issues • Radon testing in Tribal homes and communities • Radon mitigation • Funding needs for IAQ activities in Indian country • Addressing asthma disparities

IF YOU WANT TO HELP, PLEASE JOIN US!!
