Our Inspiration

“Our heart disease accounts for 1 in 7 deaths in the United States. At the age of 35, my best friend Steve became that 1. From this tragedy, The Heart Foundation was born.”

Mark Litman
Chairman, Founder

On December 7, 1995, Steve Cohen came home from work, changed his clothes, kissed his wife and two daughters and walked out the door to play his weekly basketball game with friends. Neither Steve nor his wife could know what would follow. During the basketball game, this healthy-looking, 35-year-old man suffered a massive heart attack that took his life.

Just two months prior to his death, Steve received a clean bill of health at his annual check-up. However, the check-up did not include cardiac screenings that could have identified the coronary artery disease that caused his sudden, fatal heart attack. Steve was one of the estimated 250,000 Americans who experienced sudden cardiac death that year, many of whom, like Steve, were young, seemingly healthy and never suspected they had heart disease.

In an effort to save others from suffering the tragic loss of a loved one to sudden cardiac death, in 1996 a group of Steve’s friends, family and community members formed The Steven S. Cohen Heart Fund, now named The Heart Foundation. Now in its 25th year, the foundation remains dedicated to increasing awareness of heart disease and funding the groundbreaking heart disease research taking place at Smidt Heart Institute at Cedars-Sinai under the direction of world-renowned cardiologist Dr. P.K. Shah. Dr. Shah and his colleagues have developed a potential vaccine for heart disease which is now beginning human clinical trials. This vaccine has the capacity to save countless lives and change the course of medical history.

Heart disease is the number one cause of death for both men and women in the United States, claiming approximately one million lives each year. In fact, more die of heart disease than of AIDS and all cancers combined. Your support of this golf tournament benefitting The Heart Foundation is critical to finding improved methods of preventing, detecting and treating this silent killer.
