

Digital solutions for business continuity and community resilience

Ulula is a software and analytics platform that equips organizations with digital tools to monitor and manage social risk and create more responsible supply chains. Ulula provides continuous insights and communication solutions anywhere, anytime and in real-time for resilient communities and workplaces.

Protect employees and workers

- Remote impact assessment: measure the impact of Covid-19 on mental wellbeing, health and safety, retention and productivity
- Get eyes and ears across the supply chain to understand social, labor and business risks by engaging directly with workers and suppliers remotely
- Enable worker and employee feedback and reporting to respond to concerns and questions to prevent and mitigate problems
- Broadcast alerts and information to keep workers and employees informed across communication channels and languages

Support Community

- Remote needs and impact assessment: assess community needs and priorities, measure Covid-19's impact on livelihoods, health and safety
- Enable community feedback and reporting to respond to concerns and questions to prevent and mitigate problems
- Broadcast alerts and information to keep community members informed across communication channels and languages

Ulula's worker engagement solution is deployed in 22 countries and has engaged over 1 million people. The solution is trusted by Fortune 100 companies, governments, leading international civil society organizations, trade unions and auditors.
