

IntraSphere Technologies Inc.

This start-up web-design and software firm required a cost-conscious yet dynamic image for their 16,000 S.F. space in Lower Manhattan. Our design reflected the youthful nature of the organization and was instrumental in attracting new talent to the growing firm. The project featured:

- A mix of workrooms, offices and open workstations arranged in concentric 'rings' around the core of the space
- Multiple meeting rooms of various sizes where teams collaborate on new products.
- A large multi-purpose space to be used as Pantry, Lounge, Training and for 'Town Hall' style staff meetings
- The Reception Area designed as a spherical volume. The angled walls, accent lighting and serpentine shaped partitions further reinforce the 'sphere' concept
