

Solo-Response to Active Shooter

Sponsored by Michigan Municipal Risk Management Authority (MMRMA)

Active Shooter Response tactics have been modified over the last 20 years to meet the challenges of these catastrophic events. Officers must plan and train for every type of contingency, whether it is the first officer arriving on the scene, a pair of officers, or an organized team, each response has to be trained and rehearsed to minimize confusion and optimize effect.

This Course is designed to prepare a first responder to arrive, assess and approach the scene of an active shooter with knowledge and abilities to take appropriate action to mitigate the consequences of these types of events.

This Course will cover:

- Lecture
- Demonstration
- Isolation exercises
- Reality-based scenarios

This Course is MCOLES Approved for 302 funds.
