With all of our locations performing multiple weighing's per month (including numerous wide body aircraft) we sought out a reliable product with outstanding accuracy, reliability and longevity. These features plus multiple more were the deciding factors in selecting General Electrodynamics Corporation. We now perform our weighing's internally and reap the benefits of their low profile AN60-6 Aircraft Scales and wireless handheld tablet. GEC's AN60-6 scales are lightweight and low profile which saves time and eliminates the need for extra personnel during set-up and take down. The AN60-6 aircraft scales have performed beyond our expectations which accredits to their precise accuracy and dependability.

By utilizing GEC's aircraft scales and wireless handheld tablet we have significantly reduced our time it takes to weigh aircraft. Overall we are a satisfied customer of GEC and realize that these benefits expedite our turnaround time for customers and help our bottom line.
