

CARR HOUSE ends the year in the lead, an accomplishment that we will be sure to celebrate on campus when it is safe to do so. Congrats to all our All-Stars and thank you for making Fieldstone such a positive community.

Alick Wang is being recognized for embodying the value of citizenship in our community. By exhibiting a positive attitude and outlook in the classroom, he shows initiative and is striving to reach his full potential. His honesty and trustworthiness is a testament to his character and he is considerate when interacting with his teacher and his peers. Thank you Alick, for your valuable contribution. Go for it!

Rick Qi is being recognized for embodying responsibility in Photography Class. Rick resubmitted parts of past assignments to improve his coursework mark. Thank you, Rick; you did some really nice work.

James Tian is being recognized for his responsibility in his Chemistry Class. He is showing significant improvement and has achieved this by working hard and staying focused. Thank you, James, for being a responsible member of our community.

Ana Ovsyannikova is being recognized for embodying the value of initiative in our community. By showing dedication in improving her Data Project, she is setting a great example and making the learning environment more positive. Thank you, Ana, for your valuable contribution.

Peter Wang is recognized for embodying the value of responsibilities in Math and Physics classes. He is always in the Google Meets on time, participates in class discussions, and asks for clarification when needed. He consistently completed his home work and submitted it this week. Thank you, Peter, for your valuable contribution.

Jeffrey Sang is being recognized for embodying the value of citizenship. Jeffrey always helps others and informs his teacher if there is a problem with the Google Classroom or Google Meet. Thanks, Jeffrey, for your contribution!

Mathew Wang is being recognized for embodying the value of citizenship in our community. By demonstrating knowledge and empathy for the people affected by recent events in the news, he sets an example for others of what it means to be an informed and compassionate citizen. Thank you, Mathew, for your valuable contribution.

Chizuru Soukejima is being recognized for demonstrating caring in our community. She cares about the quality of her work, and about the success of her class. She is a dedicated and committed student.

Eric Hu is being recognized for embodying the value of caring in our community. By helping his peers translate and understand instruction, he has helped them get the most out of daily literacy lessons and makes the class a better experience for everyone. Thank you, Eric, for your valuable contribution.

Linda Huang is being recognised for embodying the value of responsibility in our community. By always being on time and be prepared for class, she has helped create a positive learning environment. Thank you, Linda, for your valuable contribution.

Eric Cheng is being recognized for embodying the value of responsibility. He attends every class and tries to come to class prepared and ready to participate. Thank you, Eric!

Mohmmad Farrokhi is being recognized for embodying the value of responsibility. He continues to join Google Meet classes on time and participates in class discussion. He attends tutorials to make sure he is meeting success criteria for his assignments and CCTs. Thank you, Mohammad, for your example of responsibility in the Fieldstone Community!

Heaven Hao is being recognized for demonstrating perseverance and responsibility as she worked to complete her Duke of Ed Award. She communicated with Ms. Long and her assessors and, despite being very busy with CCTs, completed the last steps toward achieving her Award. Congratulations, Heaven!

Ambrose Miao is being recognized for showing great responsibility as he completed the final stage of his Duke of Ed Award. Despite being very busy, Ambrose completed a lovely reflection on his hiking trip experience. Congrats on completing your Award, Ambrose!

Aaron Guan is being recognized for embodying the value of responsibility in our community by regularly joining the online class, taking part in class discussion and trying hard to complete daily class work and home work. Thank you, Aaron, for your valuable contribution.

HOUSE LEADERBOARD

