ACT I

FADE IN:

1 INT DR. PATZ'S OFFICE - DAY

WAYLON SHAW, forty-three, barrel-chested, heavier than he should be, sits across from DR. STEVEN PATZ, forties. They're friends. The doctor draws something on a pad as he speaks.

DR. PATZ
Sometimes when I draw it out on paper... it comes across less clinical. So I try to do that. The patient isn't overwhelmed with medical terminology. This is you, Waylon.

ANGLE THE DIAGRAM

He's drawn a rotund blimp man.

DR. PATZ (O.S.) (CONT'D)

You're fat.

RESUME

WAYLON
(unimpressed)
You tell me this every time I come in, Stevie

DR. PATZ
Because I want you to live. Your cholesterol is two-seventy, on the meds. And... no offense, but, you're becoming mentally... less acute.

A beat.

WAYLON
What do you mean?

DR. PATZ
Bad blood flow can affect the brain. Waylon. There seems to be a little less going on up there.

A long beat.

WAYLON
Get the fuck outta here.

DR. PATZ
Fine, reject my opinion, you've been doing it your whole, about-to-be-cut-short life.

WAYLON
Being fat can't make a person stupid.

DR. PATZ
To the effect your vascular health is compromised, it certainly--

WAYLON
Oh, gimme a--

DR. PATZ
You are going to die.

WAYLON
That's a medical fact?

DR. PATZ
No, it's just my opinion, does that make you feel better? I suppose you'll go celebrate now with a trough of french fries, I'm writing you a prescription, and I need you to get this filled Can you read that, Waylon? It says, "change your life in its entirety ".

OFF Waylon, we cut to

CLOSE ON A DONUT BEING BITTEN

PULL BACK TO REVEAL

INT. SQUAD CAR - DAY

HANK SHAW, forty-five, barrel-chested, heavier than he should be . Sheriff... driving his squad car. ABBA BLASTING on the radio. REVEAL he's driving on a relatively untraveled two-lane interstate highway. As he eats, listens... sucking in the joy of life... a new model Mercedes approaches from the other direction. As it WHIZZES by, Hank takes note, his eyes lighting up. Hits the SIREN, turns, gives chase. The Mercedes pulls over to a stop, Hank pulls in behind.

Takes another bite of the donut for either luck or fuel ... then he de-boards. Slowly approaches the vehicle. BYRON HAGGIS, looks Mercedes... acts BMW.

HANK
License and registration, please.

HAGGIS
(tapping the steering wheel with impatience)
Did I do something wrong, Officer?

HANK
(polite)
No front plate. Law requires a front plate, sir.

HAGGIS
That's why you stopped me?

HANK
Yes, sir.

As Hank hands back the license and registration--

HANK (CONT'D)
Thank you.
(starts to write ticket)
Law's been in effect for over two years now

HAGGIS
Wait a second. You're actually writing me a ticket?

HANK
Yes, I am, sir, you committed a moving violation.

Haggis bites his tongue as he looks away with a derisive smile.

HANK (CONT'D)
Is there a problem, sir?

HAGGIS
A problem? Would I be invited to share with you my problem?

HANK
Certainly, I always enjoy feedback from the customer.

HAGGIS

The customer. May I step out of the vehicle, Officer--

HANK

Please.

Haggis does

HAGGIS

See, when you call me the "customer," you actually touch on my problem, Officer. I rather view myself as not so much the "customer," but the "employer," and I know you probably can't get that a lot. Irate motorists saying, "My tax dollars pay your salary," that sort of thing, but you want to know the irony, Officer, are you a fan of irony, are you even familiar with the word?
(not waiting for an answer)

I pay SIX MILLION dollars a year in taxes, Officer, my time in fact is worth about SEVENTEEN THOUSAND dollars a minute which, and this is, where irony comes in, so you'll want to pay attention here... in your transparent attempt to raise revenue by slapping me with a ridiculous ticket you have caused less tax dollars to trickle down to your intellectually bankrupt fishing village, this ticket ends up costing you money, Officer, perhaps that's my problem, did you follow, I tried to use words that were phonetically within range.

Hank stares back. A beat... Fires one crisp punch to Haggis' face, breaking his nose. As he bleeds--

HAGGIS (CONT'D)

Jesus Christ! Jesus Christ!

OFF this, we--

CUT TO:
INT. DINER - DAY

Waylon, Hank and Garrett, the third brother, forty-four, barrel-chested, heavier than he should be. and Mayor of Poland, New Hampshire. They're all eating... greasy spoon food, off each other's plates

GARRETT

You hit him?

HANK

He called me stupid

WAYLON

(what a coincidence)

GARRETT

For God's sake, Hank.

I got called stupid today. By my doctor.

WAYLON

Said it was 'cause of my high cholesterol. Like my brain arteries are clogged.

GARRETT

What are you talking about? Your brain arteries?

I think

WAYLON

GARRETT

Waylon, that's Alzheimer's, did he say you have Alzheimer's?

WAYLON

No, he said high cholesterol

HANK

He doesn't have Alzheimer's

GARRETT

Cholesterol doesn't make you stupid.

(back to Hank)

Committing a battery makes you stupid.

HANK

Oh please, this is politics now.

POLITICS?

GARRETT

HANK

Yes

(MORE)

HANK (CONT'D)
You're only upset 'cause you're the mayor and since I'm your brother you're afraid of fallout, well lemme tell you, Garrett, there was a time you were wronged by a certain Kevin Quinn and when I hit him you were quite pleased, do you remember that time, Garrett, you applauded me.

GARRETT
(are you nuts)
I was nine, Kevin Quinn stole my bike

As Waylon rises to leave--

GARRETT (CONT'D)
Where you going?

WAYLON
Doctor says I gotta eat less.

HANK
So what, you can't wait for us to finish, what have you got to run off to?

WAYLON
Oh, that's nice, Hank, remind me when you're unemployed.--

HANK
I didn't say anything about you being unemployed--

WAYLON
--to make a remark.

WAYLON (CONT'D)
Yes you did, you asked what I had to run off to, meaning I have nothing to do, meaning I'm unemployed and I'm sick of it. From both of you.

And off Waylon goes a beat.

GARRETT
(concerned)
What's with him?

HANK
I don't know. You don't think he's really dying, do you?
CONTINUED: (2)

GARRETT
I don't know. Something's going on. He's like all on edge lately.

HANK
You know how he gets.

GARRETT
(then)
What 'bout you? Punching motorists. That's not exactly in keeping with mental health, Hank. Are you okay?

HANK
I'm fine.
(then)
Dottie's not attracted to me anymore.

Garrett stares a beat. Then--

GARRETT
Was she ever attracted?

Hank's not amused. But Garrett didn't mean it as an insult.

GARRETT (CONT'D)
I'm just saying . none of us are . what I'd call handsome . I gotta figure... our wives married us 'cause... I dunno... what's on the inside

HANK
I don't go for that inside crap

GARRETT
Well, maybe that's the problem. (looks left, right, then, covertly)
Helen gets more sexually aroused when I talk to her. Y'know, about her feelings.

HANK
Look. I'm the sheriff. I'm also the most successful high school hockey coach in the history of Poland, New Hampshire.

GARRETT
That doesn't always do it.

CONTINUED (3)

HANK
Well, it should. Crime is down eighteen percent, fuck sake, three straight state championships, she should want to have sex with me every night

A beat Garrett can't argue when Hank gets like this. OFF this, we:

CUT TO.

INT ROPERS' DEN - DAY

WARREN ROPERS, fifties, enters his library/den... carrying a tray... on it a plate of pasta, some bread in a linen basket... a glass of red wine. He's dressed in a shirt, coat and tie, this is a special occasion. Candles are already lit on his desk, the room is immaculate. The bookshelves reveal he is well-read. He places the tray on the table... hits the remote to his CD and his favorite ITALIAN OPERA PLAYS OUT. He sits, puts the linen napkin across his lap, takes a sip of wine... a bite of pasta... it rarely gets better than this. He drinks in the moment... takes another sip of wine... reaches into his desk drawer... pulls out a revolver... as he puts the barrel into his mouth... we CUT AWAY... we HEAR the SHOT... see the blood hit the wall

As the OPERA CONTINUES to PLAY, we finally:

CUT TO:

CLOSE ON THREE TEENAGE GIRLS

Seventeen, cute, laughing... enjoying one another as they get ready to get into a car. We are in fact looking at them THROUGH BINOCULARS.

REVEAL:

5 INT. WAYLON AND JULIE'S BEDROOM - DAY

Waylon, transfixed... watches the teenagers. Finally... suddenly... a rolled up newspaper hits him on the back of the head. He turns to see as we REVEAL KATIE SHAW, seventeen.

KATIE
What is wrong with you?

WAYLON
I was just...

KATIE
Daddy. They know you look at them.
It's embarrassing, I don't even want to invite them over. You're creeping them out.

What can he say? He was busted, all he can do is own the humiliation.

KATIE (CONT'D)
(softening)
I called the doctor, you do not have Alzheimer's, he was just talking about vascular blood flow to the brain, trying to get you to stop with the fast food.

WAYLON
(proffering a pillow)
Smell this, would you, sweetheart?

Katie sniffs it

WAYLON (CONT'D)
What does that smell like to you?

She sniffs again

KATIE
Window cleaner?

WAYLON
Cologne. Men's cologne, which you know I don't wear
(a beat)
I think your mother might be seeing somebody.

A beat.

KATIE
Are you on drugs?

WAYLON
Well, how did that get there?
Somebody broke in to take a nap?

KATIE
She probably cleaned the window once with the pillowcase and it didn't all come off. Daddy, I'm starting to get worried about you, this is like delusional, now. Mom having an affair?

She sits on the bed next to him

KATIE (CONT'D)
Are you having like some kind of crisis or something?

A beat. He picks up a picture.

WAYLON
See this?

ANGLE A DATED PICTURE OF THREE HIGH SCHOOL HOCKEY PLAYERS after a game, arm-in-arm. The Shaw brothers.

WAYLON (CONT'D)
1977. Your uncles and me owned this town. Highest scoring line in the state, nobody could stop us. And two of the three still own the town. Uncle Garrett's the Mayor Uncle Hank's the sheriff. Then there's me.

KATIE
(softly)
All this... is because you lost the store As soon as you get another job...

WAYLON
I lost the store three years ago, Katie I've had six jobs since then.

A beat

KATIE
There's a lot of people in this town out of work.

WAYLON
Well, I shouldn't be one of them. Your brothers, you... you deserve good things. And...

KATIE
We have everything we want. (then)
The only thing I need is for you to stop looking at my friends like a perv. It isn't acceptable.

5 CONTINUED: (3) He nods. OFF this, we.

CUT TO:

6 INT. ROPERS' HOUSE - DAY

SHARON ROPERS, forties, carries a tray of tea, as she approaches the den.

SHARON
Honey. I made some tea. Green tea, it's supposed to have anti-oxidants. I read articles, we're supposed to drink a lot of it. Honey?

As she enters--

7 INT. ROPERS' DEN - CONTINUOUS

She freezes. Her expression is blank, almost as if her brain can't compute the image. But then... the image is computed. She drops the tray. OFF this, we.

CUT TO:

8 EXT ROPERS' HOUSE - MINUTES LATER

Police cars. Ambulance. Garrett's car pulls up on the cut. Garrett emerges, he's met by Hank

GARRETT (stunned) Warren?

HANK (nodding)
Self-inflicted. Sharon found him

GARRETT
(softly)
Oh, my God. What...?

HANK
He left a short note, saying goodbye. He didn't indicate...

Garrett spots Sharon. He goes to her

GARRETT
Sharon.

(continues)
CONTINUED

She folds into him and he holds her tightly. Finally--

GARRETT (CONT'D)

Do you have any idea... why?

She shakes "no." Then--

SHARON

He lost the theatre, Monday. The bank foreclosed. But...

GARRETT

He didn't tell me this.

SHARON

Was he confiding in you that much lately?

Uh-oh

GARRETT

What do you mean?

SHARON

I told him about us, Garrett. He knew it was a thing of the past, but... he knew.

GARRETT

(weakly)

You told him... about us?

SHARON

We were trying to reconnect. And--

(reacting to something else)

Oh God

THEIR POV

Warren's body is being brought out of the house... in a body bag. The Coroner's carrying the body toward the death van... until the stretcher actually snaps and the body tumbles to the ground.

RESUME

SHARON (CONT'D)

Jesus Christ!

GARRETT

(goes to comfort her)

SHARON
(erupting)
Is that the economy too, Garrett?
We can't even afford a decent stretcher, that isn't in the budget?!

GARRETT
Alright--

SHARON
We can't buy books, we can't plow the streets, now we can't even afford one stretcher to take a dead body out of a God damn house?!!

GARRETT
Okay, Sharon. Okay.

And he holds her OFF this, we.

FADE OUT.

END OF ACT I ACT II

FADE IN:

EXT. GARRETT'S HOUSE - MORNING

Middle income New England home, Garrett, Hank and Waylon stand in waders, fishing attire, but they haven't progressed too far. They're huddled, speaking covertly.

WAYLON
You and Sharon Ropers?

GARRETT
It happened years ago, when Helen and I were having sexual problems. I was just trying to protect my prostate.

HANK
What are you talking about?

GARRETT
Patz, the quack, he told me having sex can ward off prostate cancer. And since Helen and me--

WAYLON
Is this why Warren shot himself?

Garrett smacks Waylon's shoulder.

GARRETT
He shot himself probably 'cause he lost the theatre and keep your voice down, Helen's in the kitchen.

HANK
She's not even attractive.

GARRETT Sorry?

HANK
Sharon Ropers. She's bigger than us, Garrett, what were you thinking?

GARRETT
She wasn't big then

WAYLON
Last year she went to Patz complaining of this pain in her side. He lifted up a fold of fat and found a potato chip digging in.

Garrett holds a look at Waylon.

WAYLON (CONT'D)
He said it had been there a week.

GARRETT
I don't feel like fishing this morning.

WAYLON
What do you mean?

And Garrett heads back to his house.

WAYLON (CONT'D)
(calling after him)
We always fish, it's Tuesday tradition

But Garrett keeps going.

WAYLON (CONT'D)
God's sake. It's tradition.

HANK
Let him be. He's gonna get his prostate kicked at the town meeting next week as it is. And now that we've lost our only movie theatre...

WAYLON
Do me a favor?

He pulls the pillowcase out of his truck.

WAYLON (CONT'D)
Can you like run this at your lab, test the chemicals.

HANK What?

WAYLON
It smells like cologne. I can't be sure, but it's possible Julie is having an affair.

(Continued)
HANK
Smells like window cleaner.

WAYLON
It's cologne. They make some of them smell like household products now. Gives a scent like the guy does chores and women get turned on by that, men who help out around the house. I read it in Men's Health.

HANK
What are you, whacked?

A beat

HANK (CONT'D)
Okay. Look. When Garrett tells me he had an affair... I'm surprised, but I can believe it. His character is weak sometimes. But Julie.

(a beat)
I gotta say something now 'cause I'm your brother. You seem to be... I dunno. I'm sorry I had to say it

WAYLON
Say what, you said "I dunno".

HANK
I don't think you're thinking straight. Not like your brain has plaque or anything, but lately you don't seem right to me.

WAYLON
I'm depressed.

HANK
This is New Hampshire. People don't get depressed in New Hampshire, that's a city thing.

WAYLON
(softly)
I don't have a job, Hank. I can't even provide for my family.

(CONTINUED)
HANK
How 'bout... I'll work on Garrett... if I can increase our budget I can hire another deputy or--

WAYLON
You can't hire me as a deputy, I never went to the police academy.
Plus... that's all he needs right now... a charge of Neptunism with everything else he's got hanging over him.

HANK Neptunism.

WAYLON
You know. Hiran family members.

Hank hasn't even got the heart to correct him.

HANK
You got anything on the horizon?

WAYLON
Some prospects. But... I dunno.

Hank sees his brother is really hurting

HANK
Hey. You got me. Right?

WAYLON
Yeah

Hank gives him a big bear hug. OFF this, we.

CUT TO:

10 INT. GARRETT'S KITCHEN - CONTINUOUS

Garrett is looking out at his brothers, embracing. MONICA, age fifteen, is at the sink. Two boys, NICKY, twelve, and KEVIN, eleven, are clearing their plates, they exit, under--

MONICA
How come Uncle Hank and Uncle Waylon are hugging?

GARRETT
Grown-ups do that, honey.

MONICA

Why?

GARRETT

'They just do, go eat your breakfast.'

MONICA

"They just do," that is such excellent parenting.

GARRETT

Hey.

HELEN

(interceding)
Leave it.

(then)
What's wrong?

GARRETT

Nothing

HELEN

Nothing.

GARRETT

They'll blame me for Warren, you know. "Tried his life 'cause he lost the theatre, lost the theatre 'cause of the economy, that's what they'll say, "bad mayor.""

HELEN

The whole country is in a recession

GARRETT

"Not like us" they'll say. The fucknuts.

HELEN

You need to get thicker skin, honey. They blame you for everything, when are you going to stop letting it bother you, and why are your brothers making out in our driveway?

THEIR POV

Through the window, we can see they are in fact still embracing.

GARRETT
Waylon thinks Julie's cheating on him.

HELEN What?

GARRETT
He told me earlier, he's probably telling Hank now. And you know Hank, if he can't come up with something good to say, he hugs.

HELEN
Julie's having an affair like Julie's a terrorist. Is he out of his mind?

As Monica clears her dish--

GARRETT
Go put some clothes on.

MONICA (defiant)
I'm dressed.

GARRETT
You're not going to school like that, go cover your stomach.

MONICA
Mom

GARRETT
Nevermind your mother, I told you to go put something on

MONICA
(escalating)
This is the way kids--

GARRETT
I don't care!

GARRETT

I won't leave it!! I get it all over town, I do not need to get it in my own damn house!!

He grabs a dish, hurls it against the wall, it bounces off, unbroken. He holds a long look at the dish on the floor. Then--

GARRETT (CONT'D)

You changed the dishes to plastic.

HELEN

JULIE

Um. You remember Jack Boyle, he teaches at the high school. He's here to talk about college for Katie.

WAYLON

Really. I never knew college was so funny.

JULIE

Oh, we were laughing about something else.

BOYLE

I was telling your wife I think Katie has tremendous academic potential. But she tells me she doesn't even plan to apply to college.

WAYLON

So teachers make house calls on that?

BOYLE

Well...

(then; delicate)

Mr Shaw, I know things are financially tight. But there are scholarships.

WAYLON

My financial situation is none of your business, Mr. Boyle.

JULIE

Waylon. He's here taking an interest in our daughter.

Waylon sniffs Boyle.

WAYLON

How's your financial situation? I know teachers don't get paid much, you gotta wash windows on the side?

Julie is now horrified.

JULIE
What the hell was that?

WAYLON
He smelled like Windex.

Julie just stares a beat. Then--

JULIE
Waylon. Are you cracking up? This recent behavior, I can't... talk to me, what is going on?

WAYLON
Oh you wanna talk, Julie? Fine, let's talk, how 'bout we start with you, have you got something you'd like to say? Let's talk.

Julie just stares back, unsure at what he's getting at

OFF this, we

CUT TO:

INT. RESTAURANT - DAY

The wives, Julie, Helen, and DOTTIE, fortyish, are having lunch

JULIE
Honestly, I don't know what to do with him anymore. He's getting more and more bizarre.

DOTTIE
It's unemployment. The idle mind is a destructive thing.

DOTTIE
Hank punched somebody this morning Did you hear that?

JULIE
What do you mean he punched somebody?

DOTTIE
He pulled somebody over for not having a front plate, the guy was flip, so Hank hit him.

A beat.

HELEN
Our husbands are going crazy. You should've heard Garrett going off on Monica for her clothes this morning.

(to Julie)
And for your information, Waylon thinks you're having an affair.

JULIE
I beg your pardon?

HELEN
He told Garrett

JULIE
That's what this is about?

HELEN Are you?

JULIE
Of course not. How could you even ask me something like that?

HELEN
You've lost weight, Julie, you think we don't notice.

JULIE
So that means I'm cheating because I lost weight?
HELEN
In October, yes, a woman gets thinner in late fall, she's having sex.

JULIE
The only person I have sex with is Waylon

DOTTIE
A lot?

JULIE
I'm sorry?

DOTTIE
Do you two have sex a lot?

JULIE
Is that important, Dottie?

DOTTIE
Well... Hank and I never have sex.

A beat.

HELEN Never?

DOTTIE
By the time the kids go down, I'm exhausted. Aren't you?

HELEN You never .?

DOTTIE
I have no desire for it.

HELEN
(to Dottie)
Have you two thought of getting therapy?

DOTTIE
Hank? Therapy? You know what he said to me once? "A mountain's beauty is on the outside. Open it up, out comes the lava, you're left with a big bald hill." He actually said this

JULIE
Dottie, this is a problem.

DOTTIE
Oh, come on, Julie. You like making love to Waylon?

JULIE
Yes. I do.

HELEN
(to Dottie)
Aren't you afraid he might go looking for it somewhere else?

DOTTIE
Sometimes. But then I take a good long look at him and figure... "who would want that?"

JULIE
Let me tell you something, Dottie, do not kid yourself. Women go for power. Your husband is the sheriff, he's the hockey coach, which status-wise puts him even above Garrett. He could get it a lot of places.

DOTTIE
Well, I can't just bring myself to let him get it at home.

OFF this, we:

CUT TO:

EXT POLAND, NEW HAMPSHIRE - DAY

Main Street, center of town, it’s a throw-back, seemingly to the fifties. If not a one-barbershop town, perhaps a two or three As Garrett de-boards his vehicle in front of Town Hall, SCOTT HOLLAND, fifties, suit, is rapidly approaching.

HOLLAND
(not pleased)
Garrett.

GARRETT
(politically pleasant)
Scott, my friend.
HOLLAND

Nevermind the pre-November goodwill garbage, tell me about the midnight zoning board meetings, Garrett, you think I wouldn't hear about them, you fat fuck?

The blood goes right to Garrett's head.

GARRETT

There are many ways to address the mayor of a town, Scott, "fat fuck" falls among my least favorite.

HOLLAND

Any store of over a hundred thousand square feet, this is what I'm hearing, any such store will be zoned out, is this true, your fat fuck highness?

And now Garrett steps into him, they're nose-to-nose.

GARRETT

There will be a town meeting at the appropriate time.

HOLLAND

I am the only successful business left, and you're--

GARRETT

The reason for that is you've put everybody else out of business--

HOLLAND

It's called "capitalism," fair market--

They are still nose-to-nose like an umpire and Earl Weaver.

GARRETT

See, the thing you don't get Scott, we're quaint.

GARRETT (CONT'D)
People come to visit us and shop in our quaint shops and celebrate our quainthood, but all our little shops are closing, Scott, 'cause they can't compete with the low, low prices in your one-stop-shop warehouse, people can't even afford to go to the movies anymore, which caused Warren Roper to blow his head off with a gun he bought at a low, low price in the weapons aisle of your little boutique, located somewhere between the avocados and massage chairs.

HOLLAND
(pointing his finger)
I am the last bastion of industry in Poland, New Hampshire--

GARRETT
Get the finger out of my face before I bite it off

He might, too

HOLLAND
Let me tell you something. The Shaw brothers don't run this place anymore

GARRETT
(with venom)
Yes, we do, Scott. Yes, we do

Holland is dying to take a swing and Garrett can sense it.

GARRETT (CONT'D)
Go ahead. Take your shot, Scott. Hit The mayor, I'm standing right in front of you. Take your shot.

Holland holds a look, fights off temptation to swing, then heads off. OFF Garrett, we:

INT. SHERIFF'S OFFICE - DAY

Hank and Waylon

HANK
What do you expect me to do, Waylon?

WAYLON
I smelled him, Hank, the same scent as on the pillow case, I'm telling you

HANK
Even so--

WAYLON
Adultery is a crime.

HANK
We've never prosecuted it here--

WAYLON
That doesn't mean--

HANK
And I'd have to arrest Julie, too.

WAYLON
Fine, I don't care.

HANK
Look, you're not even sure Did you confront Julie on this?

WAYLON
I inseminated it, y'know, by innuendo, I didn't come flat-out and accuse her

HANK
You "inseminated" it by innuendo.

WAYLON
If I don't actually catch her, I'm not gonna be able to prove it, she's smarter than me.

HANK
Look. I'll nose around. But this really is a family matter.

WAYLON
And that's why I'm here. You're family.

Waylon looks away. Again... Hank sees his brother's pain.
HANK
Hey. We're putting down the first sheet of ice today at the rink.
How 'bout you, me and Garrett takin' a little skate later?

WAYLON
I don't feel like skating, Hank.

HANK
Oh come on, the doctor said get exercise, this--

WAYLON
Please don't change the subject. I survived losing my job, I won't survive losing her. She's my whole

HANK
(softly)
You're not losing her.

Waylon is on the verge of dissolving.

HANK (CONT'D)
(tenderly)
Hey. The thing you have to understand is...

Hank's stuck for a finish, he has nothing good to say. So he hugs him OFF this we-

Accident scene. Deputy FRANCINE HILL, late twenties, is dealing with the drivers MARK KEPPLE, late thirties, and MARGIE WATTS, eighty, maybe ninety. Hank's squad car pulls up on the cut, he de-boards, under--

KEPPLE
(irked, but polite; to Francine)
She shouldn't be allowed to drive.

FRANCINE
Just a second--

KEPPLE
(re: his car)
Look what she did, Francine.

HANK
(to Kepple)
What happened?

KEPPLE
She ran the stop sign, that's what happened.

MARGIE
Honestly, I didn't

HANK
Is anybody hurt? Margie, you okay?

MARGIE
So far, but I haven't been examined by my attorney.

KEPPLE
Oh, you're going to sue?

HANK
Hold on... you okay, Mark?

KEPPLE
Yes, but look at my car.

Hank ushers Margie to the side.

HANK
(softly)
Margie You're really not hurt?

MARGIE
I'm fine. I was proceeding very slowly, Hank, I promise.

HANK
(tender)
This is your third accident this month.

MARGIE
I was being so careful. That cocksucker just cut me off.

Okay.

MARGIE
I was just going to see a film at the movie house. I was barely moving, Hank, Mark Kepple drives like a madman

(adding)
You know under that Mister Rogers persona, he's a douchebag.

HANK
Okay. Did you know the movie house is closed?

MARGIE
What do you mean it's closed?

HANK
Warren Ropers passed away And the theatre... it's closed

A beat. She's crushed.

MARGIE
For good?

HANK
Well... I don't know.

MARGIE
Where will I go to see a picture?

INT. WAYLON AND JULIE'S BEDROOM - DAY

Waylon is looking through Julie's dresser. He's snooping. He pulls out... some lingerie. Why would she have lingerie? He holds it up. Sniffs it to see if it's ever been worn.

KATIE (O.S.)

Oh, God.

Waylon nearly jumps out of his shoes as we REVEAL Katie at the door.

KATIE (CONT'D)

Do not tell me you're into that.

WAYLON

What's with all this snooping on me, Katie?

KATIE

Oh, you want to make snooping an issue, Daddy?

WAYLON

This is lingerie.

KATIE

I see that.

WAYLON

She's never worn lingerie for me.

KATIE

I see, were you smelling it for Windex?

WAYLON

I was trying to tell if it's ever been worn 'cause if it has, it wasn't with me.

KATIE

Daddy

WAYLON

Why aren't you at school?

KATIE
It's three o'clock. Daddy, listen to me. Manny Shore's father is going to this seminar thing on herbal supplements this afternoon. They're looking for salesmen, I think door-to-door people. I think you should go, I wrote down the address.

WAYLON
Herbal supplements?

KATIE
It's a job.
(softly)
You need to get a life. It's at four o'clock, you can still make it.

Waylon looks at the address. OFF this, we:

INT. DR PATZ'S OFFICE - DAY
Dr. Patz sits opposite Dottie and Hank.

DR. PATZ
(perplexed)
I'm not a therapist. I'm an internist.

DOTTIE
You're the only doctor I could get him to come to.

DR. PATZ
So... what... what would you like me to do?

DOTTIE
I think we should all talk.

Dr. Patz is totally befuddled.

DR. PATZ
I'm an internist.

HANK
Look, you had all kinds of head advice for my brother, telling him nonsense about how his clogged arteries were affecting his brain...

(then)
Just prescribe something, we'll be out of your hair.

DR PATZ
Prescribe something?

HANK
Yes. I read where Viagra can work for women, too. Give her some of that.

DOTTIE
That's not what it's about, Hank.

HANK
(escalating)
Then what is it, Dottie? If you're not attracted to me, then just say it, but I got news. he can't cure that.

(then)
It's about my humiliation, that's what it's about.

A beat.

DR PATZ
(to Dottie)
Are you not attracted to him?

HANK
(to Dr. Patz)
You shut up.

DOTTIE
It's why we're here.

HANK
(rising anger)
No, you're why we're here, he doesn't have the answer, you're the only one who knows what's going on, Dottie. So talk. God's sake.

A beat. Dr. Patz. Looks at her. "If you have something to say, better say it."

DOTTIE
(a quiet admission)
I so hate this town. It's a horrible place for women. The only industry is raising children, who when they get old enough move away, as they should because there's nothing here.
(to Hank)
You think ours will stay?
(a beat, back to Dr. Patz)
We had one little place of culture, an art house theatre that I could never even get him to go to because he's against subtitles on principle. And now that's gone. And I can't even share. How much I hate it here... because...

DR. PATZ
Because why? Tell him.

DOTTIE
Your brother is the mayor. You're the hockey coach, the sheriff, you are this town, Hank. As much as I love you, and I do... you are this town. And I just can't bring myself to make love to it.

Hank just stares at her with incredulity. Finally--

DR. PATZ
Hank what do you say to that?

Hank just continues to stare.

DR. PATZ (CONT'D)

Finally, Hank rises. Exits. Off this, we:

SHARON

JULIE
We all adored Warren so.

HELEN
Please, if there's anything... let us know.

SHARON
Thank you so so much.

What I don't understand... if he knew about us... the last year or two, he's been a good friend, Sharon. A loyal supporter, he...

SHARON
You really don't get it, do you? (off Garrett)
Most of the town thought of him as this strange little man who liked foreign movies. He had very few friends. He took great pride... in that one of his friends... was the mayor. He chose to pretend he didn't know the truth... rather than jeopardize a friendship that... so that's what he did. He pretended.

Garrett shakes his head, softly. A beat.

SHARON (CONT'D)
Garrett, I need for you to pay me a hundred thousand dollars.

What?

GARRETT Excuse me?

SHARON
Life's been very unfair to me. More than fair to you. Things need to even out.

GARRETT
You want me to give you a hundred thousand dollars? Do you... what, you need a loan?

SHARON
No. I want a piano. I want a big screen TV with high definition. I want a new car. I want some nice things I can't afford. What you can't afford is to have our past relationship come to light. Though it probably has no connection to my husband's suicide, it still wouldn't look good.

GARRETT
First of all... I don't have that kind of money.

SHARON
You'll figure it out.

OFF Garrett, stunned, we:

INT. MEETING ROOM - DAY

Waylon, and about twelve other unemployed CITIZENS, ages fifteen to eighty, including Margie, sit listening to RUPERT ROBIN, mid-thirties, slick salesman. A spread of supplements are displayed on the table... graphic charts on easels.

ROBIN
Simply put, Americans are not getting enough of the essential vitamins and minerals in their daily diets. "Nature's Wonder" contains all of them, what am I talking about, I'll tell you what I'm talking about, I'm talking about C, A, D, E, B1, B2, B6, B12, folic acid, calcium, potassium, zinc, magnesium, selenium, that's just the beginning, you see this bottle here? Five years, maybe ten of added longevity, do you think you could ring somebody's doorbell offer them a fifteen-day supply of longevity and health in a bottle free, does it take salesmanship, no, it takes product, well, we have product, this is that product.

Margie raises her hand

ROBIN (CONT'D)

Yes, dear?

MARGIE
I don't like the name. It's too close to "Nature's Miracle," that's a spray to take the smell out of dog poop You need to change the name.

ROBIN
(indignant)
The "name" is a trademark which generates billions of dollars worldwide.

MARGIE

It's just a few hours in the afternoon for a week, tops.

FRANCINE
You actually want me to spy on some school teacher?

As Hank pulls out, drives up the street, under--

HANK
It's for my brother, Francine. I just want to give him some peace of mind, you're not going to discover anything. But--

FRANCINE
So why not just tell him I did surveillance if it's peace of mind--

HANK
'Cause that would involve me lying, and me and my brothers, that's one thing we don't do with each other.

FRANCINE
This is not an appropriate use of the taxpayers--

Suddenly he stops the car as he stops talking.

FRANCINE
What?

HANK
That's Julie's car. Why would it be parked here?

FRANCINE
Maybe.. she's visiting somebody here.

HANK
Or maybe she's parked just far enough away so as not to be seen...

The bed is unmade... but nobody is there.

BOYLE

What the hell are you doing?

Hank's eyes do a quick scan... and he spots a handbag. A woman's handbag. He heads for the closet.

BOYLE (CONT'D)

Sheriff, what--

Too late. Hank yanks open the door. And there she stands. But it isn't Julie. It's Katie, Waylon's daughter. She's half-dressed, she's holding the rest of her clothes. A beat

KATIE

Hi, Uncle Hank.

Hank looks like he might explode. Finally--

HANK

Francine Please take my niece back to her car.

KATIE

Please don't tell my parents

HANK

Go with Deputy Hill

FRANCINE

C'ron, honey.

Francine and Katie leave. Hank closes the door.

BOYLE

She's seventeen.

HANK

What did you just say?

BOYLE

I was just... she's of legal age.

HANK

She's also one of your students. You're screwing one of your students. (then)

You're screwing my niece.

BOyle

Because you'll scream, and when you do she'll just tune us out.

WAYLON
I can be calm, Julie.

JULIE (firm)
Waylon, I will take the lead here.

WAYLON
She had him in our bed, do you understand that Julie, I smelled him on our pillowcase, I will kill him

JULIE
Your brother half did that, but thanks for that little demonstration of "calm."

And Julie goes into Katie's room, Waylon follows.

28 INT. KATIE'S BEDROOM - CONTINUOUS

WAYLON

JULIE

Waylon.
(back to Katie)
This family is built on trust.

KATIE

I didn't betray your trust, Mom, it's not like I went into your drawers sniffing your underwear.

As Waylon's eyes bulge--

JULIE

What?

KATIE

We've talked about sex, we've talked about me having sex, if I was with a kid my age, this--

JULIE

But you weren't with a boy your age, you were with a teacher.

KATIE

So how does that involve trust?

WAYLON

Don't give us that--

JULIE

Waylon

WAYLON

If you feel so proud of it, why were you on the sneak?

KATIE

Because I trusted you to not overreact, you might consider being relieved, since--

WAYLON

Relieved?

KATIE
Yes, the high school boys are all tree trunks, they just want to drink and get laid. Jack Boyle is smart, he's educated, you might be relieved to have a male literary influence in my life instead of...

A beat.

WAYLON
Instead of what? Me?

KATIE
I didn't say that.

WAYLON
You didn't have to.

KATIE
Hey Don't make this about you, alright? Not everything is about your complexes, your paranoias, or your being out of a job

JULIE
Katie--

KATIE
No! There's a lot of fathers out of work in this sinkhole, most of them tell their kids not to worry, I'm sick of him wearing it on his sleeve every day--

JULIE
Katie!

A beat.

KATIE
Jack Boyle is a good man. I love him That's all I'm going to say.

Waylon exits.

JULIE (strict)
Whatever our problems. . we are a family. Just like your father and I have always tried to be there for you, I expect you to be there for him.

KATIE

I am

JULIE

Is that right? Well, if my opinion counts for anything... he deserves a lot better than he just got, young lady.

And Julie exits. OFF Katie, we:

CUT TO:

EXT. SKATING RINK - DAY

Garrett gets out of his car, observes THIRTY high school MALES, doing a series of organized wind sprints.

CUT TO:

INT. SKATE SHARPEN ROOM - DAY

Hank is sharpening a pair of skates. Garrett enters. Turns off the machine. A beat.

HANK

Is he okay?

GARRETT

He'll live. With a broken jaw, a broken nose, a broken cheekbone.

HANK

I just...

GARRETT

(furious)

Just what, Hank?

HANK

I snapped.

GARRETT

Not good enough.

A beat. Hank is almost near tears.

(then)
I need you to look at me now.

He does

GARRETT (CONT'D)
You're my brother. I love you.
But I also continue to love this town. I will protect it against anything, including its sheriff, if I have to. Do you hear me? I will take you out. As sheriff. As hockey coach.

HANK
(weakly)
I'm sorry, Garrett.

Garrett holds a look.

GARRETT
I'll try to go fix things with this school teacher.
(then)
Those kids outside.
(MORE)
GARRETT (CONT'D)
You're not supposed to have any formal practices before October, Hank, state rule.

HANK
They just got together on their own.

GARRETT
They got together to do wind sprints on their own?

HANK
Yes.

Garrett holds a look, then leaves, passing Dottie by the door. Hank sees her. A beat

DOTTIE
What I was trying to say...

HANK
I understood what you were trying to say, Dottie

DOTTIE
You think I don't love you, Hank? I love you deeply. But. I'm going dead here. That's all I was trying to get across.

HANK
Well, you did

OFF this, we:

CUT TO:

INT. GARRETT'S KITCHEN - EVENING

Helen is in the kitchen with Monica. Kenny is wailing on the cut as Nicky yanks on Kenny's ear.

HELEN
Let go of his ear.

NICKY
He pulled mine first.

HELEN
I don't care.

Kenny flees the room. Nicky chases after him, under--

MONICA

Mom--

HELEN
You're not sleeping over there, end of discussion.

MONICA

Why?

HELEN
Because it's a school night and I said "end of discussion."

As Waylon enters through the kitchen door--

MONICA
You know, you always say "end of discussion" when you haven't got a good reason.

HELEN
I am prepared to discuss your tone if you'd like.

And Monica just heads off as Helen spots Waylon.

HELEN (CONT'D)

Waylon? Hi

WAYLON
Hi. Daughters, huh?

HELEN Yeah. How's Katie?

WAYLON
Oh, she's okay.

HELEN
I'm sorry. Tough day all around.

WAYLON
Yeah, well... they laid the first sheet of ice. Garrett, Hank and me are gonna go for an honorary skate. Blow off some steam, I guess.

HELEN
You okay?

(CONTINUED)
WAYLON

Me? Oh, yeah I'm fine.

HELEN

I just talked to Julie. She thinks, given the day, we should pick you boys up, take you out to dinner.

WAYLON

Sounds great.

HELEN

Are you looking for Garrett, he's not home.

WAYLON

No, actually, I was hoping to talk to you for a second.

HELEN

Me? About what?

WAYLON

Diet, Helen. Millions of Americans are not getting proper nutrition. We're deficient in minerals, vitamins. I'd like to speak briefly to you about an exciting new product that can boost your immune system to fight off even the toughest bacterial enemies.

HELEN

Waylon, what are you talking about?

WAYLON

I'm talking about a supplement that not only will change the lives of you and your loved ones... but add years to them. And I have a limited one-time offer.

GARRETT
Mr. Boyle. Garrett Shaw, we've never officially met.

BOYLE
Your brother's psychotic.

GARRETT
Here's the deal, Mr. Boyle. You keep this matter quiet, you keep your job. If this gets out... the political pressure on me to remove you will be, of course, overwhelming. Nobody wants to see such a promising teaching career come to an abrupt end. My best wishes for a speedy recovery.

And without more, Garrett starts to exit. Turns back.

GARRETT (CONT'D)
Oh. If you go near my niece or any other student again... the next time I'll beat the shit out of you.

And he exits. OFF Boyle, we.

HANK
So he's gonna stay quiet?

GARRETT
Think so Unless he wants his career to end.

WAYLON
What about Sharon Ropers?

GARRETT
That I don't know. I'm not paying her the money.

HANK
But, Garrett... if she goes public...

GARRETT
It's extortion. With all this town's facing right now... it needs an honest mayor.

HANK
Want me to arrest her? I'm not honest.

GARRETT
Let's just give her a chance to re-think. And hope she does.
(to Waylon) How's Katie?

WAYLON
She's okay. Says she loves him.

GARRETT
How 'bout you?

WAYLON
Me? I don't love him so much.

But Garrett holds a look, refusing to let his brother dodge the question. "How are you?" Finally--

WAYLON (CONT'D)
I just... I remember the day she was born, I held her in my hands wondering whether if I'd ever feel... y'know, unequipped to be a parent. The day has come.

GARRETT
You're equipped, Waylon. She's a good girl She's got good parents.

(CONTINUED)
WAYLON

Yeah.
(before emotion gets the better of him)
I think we need to skate

HANK
First skate Let's go.

But Garrett seems lost in thought. A beat.

HANK (CONT'D)

(softly)
Hey, Garrett. Remember the state final against Nashua? We felt like the whole world rode on that game. And on us specifically. Remember?

GARRETT

Yeah.

HANK
Turned out... it didn't. And it doesn't now, either.

GARRETT

Yeah.
