INT. KITCHEN - 5:05 PM (DAY 1)
(Roseanne, Dan, Becky, Darlene, D.J.)

(BLUEPRINTS AND RECEIPTS ARE SPREAD OUT ON THE TABLE. D.J. IS PLAYING WITH A DUMP TRUCK AT THE TABLE. DAN IS ON THE PHONE. ROSEANNE IS AT THE FRIDGE GETTING MEAT, MILK, ETC. FOR DINNER) (*)

DAN

(INTO PHONE)

No...I ordered and paid for sixty-seven ten foot two-by-fours. You sent me forty-two...Of course I counted them...

D.J.

(TRUCK NOISES)

Vroom.

DAN

Hold it down there, Deej.

(DAN CROSSES TO THE TABLE AND PICKS UP A YELLOW RECEIPT)

DAN (CONT'D)

(INTO PHONE)

In fact I got the receipt right here. Look, I got a job to finish. I need those two-by-fours first thing tomorrow morning...

BECKY (OS)

Darlene, I mean it. Give it here.
DARLENE (OS)
Get out of my face.

DAN (*)
No. No, I will not bring the receipt down.
You will bring the two-by-fours to my job site...

(BECKY AND DARLENE ENTER. DARLENE CARRIES A HAIRBRUSH)

BECKY
Mo-o-ther.

ROSEANNE
Shh. Your dad's on the phone.

DAN

(INTO PHONE)
No, no You bring the lumber, then I'll show you the receipt.

(*)

BECKY
Mom, she stole my hairbrush.

ROSEANNE
Hey! Your dad's on the phone.

BECKY (*)
But, Mom, she's using my good hairbrush.

DARLENE
I don't see your name on this brush.
DAN

(INTO PHONE)

Look I've been doing business with you people for over ten years.

BECKY

Give me that brush.

DARLENE (*)

Make me.

ROSEANNE

(YELLING)

I don't care whose hairbrush it is. Your dad's trying to talk on the phone?

DAN

Roseanne, I'm on the phone.

ROSEANNE

(TO GIRLS)

Now, you got me in trouble.

BECKY

Mom, Darlene's always taking my stuff.

D. J.

She takes my stuff, too.

ROSEANNE

(TO D. J.)

Ohh, you be quiet. You don't have any stuff.
DARLENE

Mom, this hairbrush--

ROSEANNE (*)

Next person who uses the word 'hairbrush' is gonna get their head off shaved bald.

(BECKY AND DARLENE HEAD TOWARD THE LIVING ROOM)

BECKY

It's all your fault.

DARLENE

Oh, bite it.

(THEY EXIT)

DAN

(INTO PHONE)

No, I just wanna see the lumber first thing tomorrow morning. Period. Period.

(DAN HANGS UP THE PHONE AND CROSSES TO THE TABLE. D.J. IS DRIVING HIS TRUCK OVER DAN'S BLUEPRINTS)

D.J.

Vroom. Vroom.

DAN

D.J. please, don't drive your truck on my blueprints.

(D.J. EXITS TO THE LIVING ROOM, MAKING TRUCK SOUNDS)

DAN (CONT'D)

(TO ROSEANNE)
I can't believe they shorted me twenty-five pieces of lumber?

ROSEANNE

May they rot in hell.

DAN

I got the receipt.

ROSEANNE

Well, I got something that'll cheer you up.

DAN

Oh yea? You got twenty-five two-by-fours?

(ROSEANNE CROSSES TO DAN)

ROSEANNE

Yeah. And you know what else I got? I got those official entry blank for that radio station country-western songwriting contest.

DAN

So?

ROSEANNE

So.

(ROSEANNE GOES TO THE REFRIGERATOR TO GET AN EGG)

DAN

I ain't entering no contest.

ROSEANNE

Come on. You should do it. It'd be a hoot.

DAN

You're the writer in the family.
"Roseanne" Episode #206 FINAL MIMEO DRAFT Rev. #2 09/29/88

You do it.

ROSEANNE

Well I don't got no musical talent. You're the one with a trunk full of songs out in the garage.

(ROSEANNE CROSSES BACK TO THE COUNTER)

DAN

Honey, I wrote that stuff years ago.

ROSEANNE

Well, you know you oughta dig one out and just send it in.

DAN

Oh, no. No way.

ROSEANNE

Come on, you were good at it.

DAN

Nawpe. No contest for this cowboy.

(A BEAT)

What, what can you win?

ROSEANNE

What difference does it make?
You're not going to enter it anyway.

DAN

I'm just curious.

ROSEANNE

Well the first prize is a hundred bucks. plus you get to hear your song played over the radio.
DAN
Aww, I ain't have no talent.

ROSEANNE
Come on. You know you want to do it.

DAN
It would be kinda nice hearing one of my songs played on the radio.

ROSEANNE
Dan, you can no longer deprive the world of your special talent.

DAN
Maybe you're right.

ROSEANNE
Of course, I'm right. You need to cut it loose and set it free. Do it for humanity. Do it for the children. Do it for the stinking hundred bucks.

DAN Bingo!

INT. LUNCHROOM 11:59 AM, THE NEXT DAY (DAY 2)
(Roseanne, Jackie, Crystal, Booker, Sylvia, Juanita, Vonda, Extras)

(JACKIE ENTERS THE LUNCHROOM. SHE LOOKS
OVER THE SELECTIONS OF CANDY IN THE CANDY MACHINE. BOOKER IS SITTING AT THE TABLE)

BOOKER

What are you doing?

JACKIE

Getting something to eat.

BOOKER

Your break isn't for two minutes.

JACKIE

Well then I'll go back to work two minutes early.

(JACKIE GETS SOME FOOD AND CROSSES TO BOOKER)

BOOKER

Sit down, Harris.

(JACKIE SITS)

BOOKER (CONT'D)

Sit down. You know you have an attitude problem.

JACKIE

I do?

BOOKER

Oh yes. And I was thinking that we should, ah work on it someplace outside of the workplace.

JACKIE

Where would you suggest? The backseat of your car?
BOOKER
No. No, I was thinking umm, more along the lines of my apartment.

JACKIE (*)
There is no way that I'm gonna end up a notch on your bedpost.

SFX: FACTORY WHISTLE

BOOKER
I'm not coming on to you. You think I'm I'm coming on to you?

JACKIE
It crossed my mind.

BOOKER
No, No, no see. I'm just trying to improve an employee-management relations.

JACKIE
Nice save, Booker.

(BOOKER GETS UP AND WRITES SOMETHING ON A PIECE OF PAPER)

JACKIE (*)
What's that?

BOOKER (*)

(WHISPERING)

It looks like a phone number.

Let's work on that attitude.

(BOOKER TOSSES THE PAPER ONTO THE TABLE, THEN EXITS AS ROSEANNE, CRYSTAL, SYLVIA, JUANITA, VONDA AND OTHERS ENTER FROM THE FACTORY. DURING THE FOLLOWING, THEY GET SNACKS AND COFFEE AND SIT DOWN AT THE TABLE)
CRYSTAL (*)
Roseanne? What kind of song is Dan going to enter?
ROSEANNE (*)
Oh, he hasn't even decided yet.

CRYSTAL
I bet it'll be romantic.

VONDA
Can't go wrong with a love song.

(SYLVIA CROSSES TO COFFEE)

SYLVIA
Aw, love songs are hokey. I like something I can dance to.

ROSEANNE
Get down, Sylvia.

JACKIE
This is a country and western station, right?

ROSEANNE
Yeah.

JACKIE
Well, then, the song doesn't even matter. All that counts is the title.
ROSEANNE

Well sis, I guess you're an expert on that too, hugh?

(SYLVIA CROSSES TO TABLE AND SITS)

JACKIE

Yes, it happens to be true. Look at the classics: 'Take This Job and Shove It'...

(THE WORKERS AD_LIB AGREEMENT)

JUANITA

You know what Dan should really try to write? A road song.

ROSEANNE

Gosh you're right. I love road songs. when that whiskey-voiced guy starts singing about highways and byways.

SYLVIA

What exactly is the difference between a highway and a byway?

VONDA

Well, a highway is the main road. And a byway is the road that runs right along by it.

CRYSTAL

No, no, that's an access road. A byway is a road that goes around something.

VONDA

No, that's a bypass.
JUANITA

There is no difference between a highway and a byway. Okay?

ROSEANNE

Oh. I'm so glad you figured that out.
Now maybe we can all get some sleep tonight.

CRYSTAL

I'll tell you what people can't get enough of-- hardship songs.

ROSEANNE

You know you're right. There's nothing like a hardship song to set my toes tappin'.

CRYSTAL

Well, that's all the best songs are about

(A BEAT)

My life. My parents kicked me out of the house when I was sixteen. Moved in with crazy Aunt Ina and a houseful of cats. Married at seventeen.
Widowed at eighteen. Tornado carried away my car. Hospitalized for pneumonia...

ROSEANNE

Everybody sing!

D.J.

Mom?

ROSEANNE (*).

The one and only.

D.J.

Where's Dad?

ROSEANNE

He's out in the garage, honey, struggling with the Muses.

D.J.

I need him to fix my truck.

ROSEANNE

What happened to it?

D.J.

The wheel fell off.

ROSEANNE (*)

Give it to me.

D.J.

You don't know how to fix trucks.
ROSEANNE
I know how to do anything. I'm a mom.

D.J.
Dads are supposed to fix trucks.

ROSEANNE
Gimme that. Just go sit down here.

(D.J. GIVES ROSEANNE THE TRUCK AND THE WHEEL. ROSEANNE CROSSES TO THE TABLE AND SITS. D.J. FOLLOWS AND SITS NEXT TO HER. FROM UPSTAIRS, WE HEAR:)

SFX: A LOUD THUMP

BECKY (OS)
Don't touch that!

DARLENE (OS)
I didn't touch it.

D.J.
Mom, you hear that?

ROSEANNE
Yep. Becky and Darlene are at it again.

D.J.
They're giving me a headache.

ROSEANNE
Me too.

D.J.
I've had it.

ROSEANNE
Me too.
D.J.
They say they're going to be quiet. But they never are.

ROSEANNE Never.

D.J.
And you know what else?

ROSEANNE
What?

D.J.
They're always in the bathroom.

ROSEANNE
They're horrible, rotten, girls. What are we gonna do with 'em?

D.J.
Kill them.

ROSEANNE
Nah, then I'd just have to clean up the mess. I guess we're gonna have to live with them til they move out.

D.J.
Yeah.

ROSEANNE
(HANDING D.J. THE TRUCK)

Well, there you go. One fixed truck.

D.J.
Thanks.

(Roseanne, Becky, Darlene, D.J.)

(D.J. ENTERS, CROSSES TO THE COFFEE TABLE AND STARTS PLAYING WITH HIS TRUCK. BECKY ENTERS DOWN THE STAIRS, CARRYING A BLANKET. DARLENE ENTERS RIGHT BEHIND HER, CARRYING A PILLOW)

BECKY

(AS SHE ENTERS)

Oh, shut up, Darlene.

DARLENE

Hey, it's half my room, too.

Little Miss Perfect.

BECKY

Well, you can have both halves, for all I care.

DARLENE

What is your problem?

BECKY

You're my problem, you little slob.

DARLENE

You used to be almost normal.

BECKY

Yeah, until you were born.

D.J.

Knock it off.
BECKY

I wished Mom and Dad had left you at that hospital.

DARLENE

Shut up Becky.

BECKY

(CALLING OFF)

Mom.
INT. KITCHEN - CONTINUOUS ACTION

(ROSEANNE IS AT THE SINK FILLING THE TEA KETTLE)

ROSEANNE

She's not here.

(BECKY ENTERS, CARRYING A BLANKET. ROSEANNE IS TAKING DOWN CUPS AND SAUCERS)

BECKY

Mother, I can't spend another minute in the same room with her.

ROSEANNE

And whom, pray tell, are we talking about?

BECKY

Mother, please. You know who I'm talking about: the pig.

(DARLENE ENTERS)

DARLENE

Here, you forgot you filthy, disgusting pillow.

(DARLENE THROWS THE PILLOW AT BECKY)
ROSEANNE
You know all you two have been doing this whole week is fighting and I really want it to stop now.

BECKY
Well, then talk to Darlene. She leaves all her grungy stuff all over my side of the room.

DARLENE
What? I can't leave anything anywhere without her going into convulsions.

ROSEANNE
Okay, well there's only one way to solve this problem. Give me that pillow. And give me that blanket too.

(ROSEANNE TAKES THE PILLOW AND BLANKET FROM THE GIRLS)

ROSEANNE (CONT'D)
Alright, now turn around and face each other here.

(THEY DO)

ROSEANNE (CONT'D)
Now, I want you two to fight to the death.

BECKY
Mother.
ROSEANNE

Go on. Start ripping each other apart, limb from limb. And whoever left standing gets to keep the room.

(THE GIRLS LOOK AT EACH OTHER, A BEAT)

BECKY

(TO DARLENE)

You know what she's trying to do.

ROSEANNE

Well, I do have another plan.

DARLENE

(TO BECKY)

I hate it when she does this.

ROSEANNE

Go get the masking tape and...

BECKY

(BY ROTE)

...put a line down the center of the room...

DARLENE

(BY ROTE)

...and stay on your side. Mom, that never works.

ROSEANNE

Well you make it work, girls.
DARLENE

Sorry, I'll get the tape.

(DARLENE EXITS TO THE LIVING ROOM. BECKY FOLLOWS)

BECKY

No. I'll get the tape.

DARLENE

I'm getting the tape.

(THEY EXIT)

ROSEANNE

I'm getting my tubes tied.

CUT TO: ACT ONE

Scene 4

INT. GARAGE - A MOMENT LATER
(Roseanne, Dan)

(AN OLD TRUNK SITS ON THE FLOOR, OPEN. NEXT TO IT IS A GUITAR. DAN IS AT HIS WORKBENCH, REPAIRING AN ELECTRIC DRILL. ROSEANNE ENTERS WITH TWO CUPS OF TEA)

ROSEANNE

Hey look what I broughtcha.

DAN

Ah, thanks baby. Just put it down here.

(ROSEANNE SETS THE TEA ON THE WORKBENCH)

DAN (CONT'D)

This drill hasn't worked right since, since I bought it.

(ROSEANNE CROSSES TO TRUNK)

ROSEANNE

I thought you were out here composing.

DAN

I tried a few things. But ah, I don't know. I guess I just wasn't inspired.

ROSEANNE

Well, I'm here now.

(DAN LOOKS AT HER, THEN)

DAN

And yet, somehow, I'm still not inspired.
ROSEANNE

Well, if you're not gonna write no songs, why don't you dig out some of these to send in?

DAN

I already looked. Believe me, there's nothing in there worth sending.

(ROSEANNE STARTS ROOTING THROUGH THE TRUNK)

ROSEANNE

Oh, don't give me that.

(ROSEANNE HOLDS UP A STACK OF PAPERS WHICH INCLUDES NAPKINS, SHEET MUSIC, PAGES FROM LEGAL TABLETS)

ROSEANNE (CONT'D)

There's bound to be an undiscovered masterpiece in here.

DAN

Trust me, they all suck mud. Face it, I'm a small-time contractor.
I ain't no big-time composer.

ROSEANNE

Well, this ain't no big-time contest.

(SHE HOLDS UP A SHEET OF PAPER)

ROSEANNE (CONT'D)

What is this?

DAN

What?
(READING)

Ooo, baby, baby.
Give it to me.
Give it to me.
Hey, baby, baby.
Give it to me.
Give it to me.

DAN
Give it to me.

(DAN SNATCHES THE PAPER AWAY FROM ROSEANNE)

DAN (CONT'D)
It was ah, a dance hit.

ROSEANNE
Oh in the seventies, I guess.

DAN
Yes. The lyrics weren't important.

ROSEANNE
I was really moved by it. I was getting ready to give it to you.

DAN
Ahhh. Do you want to hear something really bad?

ROSEANNE
Is it worse than that one?

(DAN FLIPS THROUGH THE SHEETS OF PAPER)

DAN
Much worse. Almost criminal.
ROSEANNE

Ooo, baby, baby. Give it to me.

DAN

I wrote this when I was nineteen.
Let's see.

(DAN PULLS OUT A SHEET OF PAPER)

DAN (CONT'D)

(READING)

Blueberry fantasy,
Tangerine dream.
Love is a rainbow,
Of incense and cream.

ROSEANNE (*)

Ohh, now I know why you can't remember your teen years.

DAN

It marked the end of my psychedelic period.

ROSEANNE

No that's the one. You ought to send it in.

(DAN CROSSES TO TRUNK)

DAN

Ah, let's just forget about the contest and clean up this mess.

ROSEANNE

Alright, you're the boss.
DAN

I'm sorry, for a minute there I thought
I heard you say I was the boss.

(*)

ROSEANNE

What's that?

DAN

Ah, it's nothing. It's just something I was working on.

ROSEANNE

Hey, let me hear it.

DAN

Well it doesn't really have a tune yet.

ROSEANNE

So. I wanna hear it anyway.

DAN

Well, kinda rusty.

(DAN PLAYS AND SINGS THE FIRST VERSE)

DAN (CONT'D)

(SINGING)

There's a river, There's a river...
High in the mountains
That's been flowin'
Since who knows when.

ROSEANNE

I like it.
DAN

You don't recognize it, do you?

(SINGING)

ROSEANNE

Uh, huh.

DAN

No one's sure
Just how it started,
But it's never gonna end.

(HE STOPS)

That's one of your poems.

ROSEANNE

Gosh, that is! I can't believe you saved it.

DAN

Yeah. I've saved everything you've ever written, except for a couple notes on the refrigerator door.

ROSEANNE

That's so sweet.

DAN

You like it?

ROSEANNE

Yeah.

DAN (*)

Well it's half yours. Maybe if I goose it up a little bit here.

(DAN PLAYS AND SINGS)

(MORE)
DAN (CONT'D)

There's a river
High in the mountains
That's been flowin' since who knows when.
No one's sure
Just how it started, but
It's never gonna end.
Our love is like that river
Flowin' through all time.
Heaven knows I need you, and
I'll never change my mind.
Heaven knows how I love you
And I'll never change my mind.

ROSEANNE

Dan, that's beautiful...

DAN

You like that?

ROSEANNE

It's beautiful.

(DAN AND ROSEANNE AD LIB RE: SONG)

DAN

You think it's good enough to enter?

ROSEANNE

I think it's good enough to win.
DAN

Yeah?

ROSEANNE

Yeah. I really do.

DAN

Really?

ROSEANNE

I really, really do. Hey, and you know then, when we go out on tour, the kids ain't coming with us. Right?

DAN

Right.

BOOKER

This is a serious matter.

(BOOKER AND JACKIE ARE SILENT A BEAT)

BOOKER (CONT'D)

JACKIE
You'd quit over that?

BOOKER (*)
Not me, you.

JACKIE
What would I write down as my reason for dismissal?

BOOKER
Uncontrollable lust.

JACKIE
Booker, you're right. The dam is crumbling. I can't fight it any more.

BOOKER
You're gonna have to try.

JACKIE
I'm a spontaneous person Booker. I just get these impulses.

BOOKER
Look I like impulses. Bring 'em to my apartment where they can do us both some good.

JACKIE
What about the impulse I'm having now?
BOOKER

You're gonna have to control yourself.

High in the mountains

Just how it started, but
It's never gonna end.

Flowin' through all time.
Heaven knows how I need you, but
I'll never change my mind.
Heaven knows how I love you
And I'll never change my mind.
