The COVID-19 pandemic has exacerbated existing inequalities for some members of the school community and limited their access to vital services. The L2R Impact Fund supports new and existing programs that increase equitable engagement in COVID-19 testing and vaccination services for priority K-12 populations.

Increasing equitable engagement

“COVID-19 testing and vaccination services for priority K-12 populations” refers to any program that serves populations who have been disproportionately affected by the pandemic and lack equal access to services related to COVID-19 response.

"Priority K-12 populations” refers to groups such as Black, Brown, Asian, Indigenous (BBAI), Black, Indigenous, Person of Color (BIPOC), Migratory students and families, Persons with Disabilities, Unaccompanied Youth, or youth experiencing homelessness, Out of School Youth, English as a Second Language students and families, LGBTQIA+, and Women and Girls, or any intersection including one or more of these.

Schools/school districts, community-based organizations (CBOs), and local health jurisdictions (LHJs) are eligible to receive funding independently or as a partnership of two or more of these entities. Applicants must be operating in Washington State to be eligible. Partnerships with CBOs are encouraged.

What programs are eligible?

Ideas to spark inspiration for proposals may include:
- Mobile or static testing and/or vaccination programs
- Isolation & quarantine services (meal delivery, home care, etc.)
- Support to avoid testing staff burnout
- Other services related to relieving testing fatigue

IMPORTANT!
Funding must be implemented by the end of June 2022!

Don’t wait to get in touch with us about your idea. Start the conversation now by completing the Request for Information Form.

Visit learntoreturn.org to learn more and apply!

Contact
Reach out to Alyssa Shumaker at alyssas@healthcommonsproject.org for questions about this important opportunity.