FESCO partners with

FESCO Emergency Sales is pleased to announce it has partnered with Hackney, an Emergency Support Vehicle manufacturer based in Washington, North Carolina. Hackney's parent company, VT Hackney, has been manufacturing transportation-related truck and trailer bodies since 1946. The Emergency Vehicles Group dates back to 1986, when an astute HazMat captain found himself standing in front of a delivery truck at a convenience store. He was struck by the depth and space of the compartments and storage. A call to Hackney was all it took to launch the Emergency Vehicle division.

Hackney's product offering now includes HazMat, Trailers, Mobile Air & Light, Command & Communications, Heavy & Light Rescues. FESCO looks forward to building this partnership.

More information about Hackney can be found on their website at www.hackneyev.com.
