

What We Do

The Climate Economy Education Inc (TCE) at www.TheClimateEconomy.com is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit that was formed in 2019 to provide education, tools and resources on business models and lifestyles that are good for the climate, economy, and humanity (“climate ventures”). Our goal is to help every individual find their niche in The Climate Economy.

Why We Do It

Human activities, mostly burning of fossil fuels for energy, is causing the Earth’s temperature to rise at unnaturally fast rates. It’s already causing massive damages in loss of life, quality of life and our economy. It’s also increasing risks of permanent changes catastrophic to life on the planet if not dealt with now, and fast, and globally. We already know that renewable energy and less wasteful, harmful ways of doing things can fix this problem and have all kinds of side benefits. So at TCE we’re going to help along this change to better ways of doing things by educating people on the cornucopia of opportunities and helping them to find their niche.

Who We Serve

Everyone has a role to play. We focus our efforts first on those on the front lines of climate change, including women, youth, people of color, and the chronically poor.

Current Programs

- Youth Climate Economy Ventures - working with the local Boys and Girls Club and Science Center for high school programs
- Community Kickoffs - educational events across southern Illinois
- Shop Local Advocacy - In partnership with local organizations, building local self-sufficiency and investment opportunities
- Coal2Sol - With support of local donors, working with AES Solar to develop solar education and training programs
- Climate Economy Action Network - www.cleannetwork.com is a website specifically set up for online learning and community capacity building
- New Program Starting in 2021 - TCE is taking its 3-Step Program to the next level to help everyone map their journey, track their progress and earn recognition and rewards for training and target actions.
