The Food and Drug Administration (FDA), a government agency responsible for the safety of products being sold or manufactured in the United States, is very careful and selective in their registration requirements. This is because the FDA:

- Is responsible for protecting the health of the public.
- Inspects and enforces regulations related to the industries providing these products.

The process of receiving registration with the FDA is amongst the strictest and most arduous of governmental procedures.

- This is a systematic operation of additional security to bring certainty in knowing a product assigned an NDC Number is of the highest quality.

The registration process requires organizations to list all label contents being manufactured, prepared, propagated, compounded, or processed for commercial distribution in the U.S.

Registration means the FDA has reviewed and approved DR. CLIFF'S PRODUCTS and assigned a NDC (National Drug Code) number.

- This signifies effectiveness, safety and security at the highest level.
