You said one thing; your employee or coworker heard something else. Nobody is wrong, but now everyone is confused. Laugh and learn as Todd Hunt shares valuable lessons wrapped in humor, providing fresh insights on how to communicate better with colleagues and employees to increase profitability. We'll even laugh at ourselves, with Todd leading the way. He's a Recovering Anal Retentive Professional (RARP) who finally learned to lighten up!

Upon the completion of this program, you will:

- Tune in to where your listener is "coming from," and tailor your communication style to leverage people and process in pursuit of profitability.
- Discover the eight problem words that could cost you customers or members.
- Re-think your voice mail greeting to eliminate confusion and save valuable time.
