hey pinenuts,

im writing this morning from a bed in a hotel in vancouver. landed night before last— flight was good, read some flannery o'connor, napped, watched the movie Get Out next to zack who was also watching the movie Get Out but had started earlier & having seen it before knew to warn me not to look at his screen lest i want to spoil my experience, which before he said it i wasnt curious at all about his screen & afterwards i would say that i was very curious, but managed to not look & enjoyed the movie immensely for a lot of reasons some of which being formal inventiveness & acute racial commentary even though there were moments that were more gory than i usually go for, had a good convo w zack afterwards, ate seeds & raisins foraged earlier in the airport for $15.00. eating more now & dropping them absolutely everywhere because i am so psyched to share an update from pineland w you today:

1. tickets for leg two of our fall run go on sale at 10am today!! this morning! get em while hot here!
