BACKGROUND

This rezoning seeks to preserve the remaining lower density character in the Williamsbridge and Baychester neighborhoods while allowing for upzonings along the area’s major nodes and corridors. The rezoning area consists of 181 blocks, 130 in Williamsbridge and 29 in Baychester. The general boundaries of the rezoning are roughly East 233rd Street to the north, Bronx Boulevard to the west, East Gun Hill Road to the south, Givan and Hammersley Avenues to the southeast, and an area that curves around Edenwald and Baychester Houses to the New England Thruway to the east.

The rezoning calls for the following actions centered around three principles:

Lower Density Rezoning
- Establish four R4 districts in existing R5 districts
  - Bound by East 222nd and 225th Streets, Boston and Eastchester Roads, and Needham Avenue
  - Bound by Givan, Corsa, Gunther, Burke and Fenton Avenues, and Boston Road
  - Bound by Bronxwood Avenue, White Plains Road, and East 223rd and 227th Streets
  - Bound by Bronxwood Avenue, White Plains Road, East 227th and 233rd Streets
- Establish a R4A district in an existing R5 district
  - Along Boston Road and Tillotson Avenue bound by Burke, Hammersley, Grave and Edison Avenues.
- Establish two R5 districts in existing R6 and C8-1 districts
  - Along Barnes Avenue between White Plains Road and Bronxwood Avenue
  - Along Lurting Avenue
- Establish two R5A districts in existing R6 districts.
  - West of White Plains Road bound by Carpenter Avenue between East 219th and 222nd Streets, and East 225th and 231st Streets

Contextual Rezoning
- Establish two R5D districts in existing R4, R5 and R6 districts
  - Along Laconia and Bronxwood Avenues between East Gun Hill Road and East 233rd Street
• Along East 223rd Street between Barnes and Paulding Avenues
• Establish two R6A districts in existing R6 districts
  o Along Carpenter Avenue and White Plains Road between East 219th and 225th Streets
  o Along Carpenter Avenue and White Plains Road between East 227th Street and East 233rd Street

Growth Opportunities and Contextual Rezoning
• Establish a R6 district in an existing R5 district
  o Along White Plains Road between East 222nd and 233rd Streets
• Establish two R6A districts in existing R4 and R5 districts
  o Along East Gun Hill Road between Holland Avenue and Boston Road/East 215th Street
  o Along East 233rd Street between White Plains Road and Barnes Avenue
• Establish a R7A district in an existing R6 district
  o Along White Plains Road between East Gun Hill Road and East 218th Street
  o Along Holland Avenue between East Gun Hill Road and East 215th Street
• Replace all C1-2 and C2-2 overlays with C1-4 and C2-4

R4 districts allow detached, semi-detached, and attached homes, as well as small apartment buildings at a maximum FAR of .75 plus a .15 attic allowance. Minimum lot area is 3,800 square feet for detached homes, and 1,700 for all other housing types. Minimum lot width must be either 40 feet for detached homes or 18 feet for all other housing types. Front yards must be either exactly 10 feet or at least 18 feet. Two side yards are required for detached homes totaling 13 feet, with at least 5 feet each. Maximum building height is 35 feet with a maximum 25-foot street wall. Parking must be provided for 100 percent of the dwelling units.

R4A districts allow one and two family detached homes with a maximum FAR of .75 plus a .15 attic allowance. BRONX BOROUGH PRESIDENT’S RECOMMENDATION

The Williamsbridge-Baychester rezoning is long overdue. Williamsbridge, while historically a community of one-to-three family homes, has developed into a hodgepodge of housing over the last couple of decades due to antiquated zoning. As a result, many side streets have been overdeveloped and negatively changed the character of many blocks. A lot that had a stately stone house now has 4 four-story boxes with small rental apartments. Group homes have taken over the homes on many blocks, because existing zoning allows a greater number of unrelated people to live in a structure. Maintaining homeownership opportunities in the borough is critical, and preserving neighborhoods like Williamsbridge and Baychester will help do that.

At the same time we must encourage development in the borough. This is why I favor appropriate upzonings along the main corridors. East Gun Hill Road at White Plains Road is a major node for the IRT 2 and 5 trains, a number of bus lines, as well for its location near the Bronx River Parkway and the Williamsbridge Metro-North Station.
The intersection sees a lot of foot traffic, but mostly for people looking to transfer to another mode of transportation. Given its role as a gateway into the Northeast Bronx, this intersection and the surrounding blocks can serve as a vibrant mixed-use destination, not only for the residents of Williamsbridge, but Norwood and Wakefield. Upzoning along Laconia and Bronxwood Avenues to R5D allows for the R4 Infill development that has taken place along the side streets to be shifted to the wide avenues. The Infill provision has negatively impacted some of these blocks by allowing homes to be built at a higher FAR. This thinking may have been useful in the 1960’s and 1970’s when these areas of The Bronx were undeveloped, but is inappropriate for today. Placing the R5D zone along these streets removes the provisions from most of these blocks. I applaud the New York City Department of City Planning for their creativity here.

I am pleased that the areas of Baychester not covered by the Pelham Gardens rezoning were revisited, helping preserve one of the Bronx’ more attractive and stable neighborhoods.

Finally, I fully acknowledge this was a difficult rezoning for the New York City Department of City Planning, given potential compliance issues. I commend their ability to service community concerns about overdevelopment in the neighborhood despite these obstacles, while allowing for appropriate growth, by developing a rezoning plan that ranges from 68-100 percent compliance, well within rezoning standards. I thank them for their hard work.

I recommend approval of this application.
