Honoring Helen Kauder
Artspace Executive Director
About the honoree
Helen Kauder

Helen Kauder began her association with Artspace in 1998, as a volunteer, co-founding the City-Wide Open Studios festival with artists Marianne Bernstein and Linn Meyers at a time when Artspace was in crisis, had jettisoned its space on Audubon Street, and was about to close. With the CWOS festival providing a new path forward for the organization, she joined the Board in 1999, initially serving as Treasurer, then as Board Chair, and then left a position at Yale to become Executive Director, helping Artspace reimagine its programs and find its new footing.

Kauder oversaw the construction and development of Ninth Square’s Chamberlain Building, the construction and development of a temporary public art program in the Lot at 812 Chapel Street (which ran from 2000-2014), helped start and shape the acclaimed Summer Apprenticeship Program, and launched the annual Artist in Residence program. Among the exhibitions she helped conceive and champion are some of Artspace’s most ambitious in scale in terms of their impact on the Greater New Haven community, including: Factory Direct: New Haven, 50,000 Beds (which was a collaboration with the Aldrich Museum and Real Art Ways), Library Science, Connecticut (un)Bound (organized jointly with the Yale University Art Gallery), Arresting Patterns/The Jerome Project, and Paying Homage: Soil + Site.

In partnership with local landlords and developers, Kauder has activated more than 2 million square of vacant space for the benefit of local artists’ temporary installations, including the Pirelli Building, Smoothie Building, Olin Building, Science Park Bldg 25, Goffe Street Armory, New Haven Register, Hamden Middle School, and most recently, Yale West Campus’s Building 410.

In 2015, she reached out to the more than 3000 artists who’ve been part of Artspace’s exhibitions and open studios to invite them to the first ever alumni reunion, and in the same year, negotiated Yale Haas Arts Library’s acquisition of its archive of exhibition materials, so that these can be available for students, artists, and scholars in perpetuity. She established an Endowment Fund at the Community Foundation of Greater New Haven that has a $2MM goal. She leaves the organization in a strong position for the future. Kauder has also served as a Commissioner on the City of New Haven’s Cultural Affairs Commission, as a reviewer for the National Endowment for the Arts and Institute for Museum and Library Services, and on the Boards of Site Projects and the music organization the Hugo Kauder Society.

Artspace is a visionary and dynamic non-profit organization championing emerging artists and building new audiences for contemporary art. Our exhibition and commissioning programs (in the gallery, out of doors, and city-wide) encourage experimentation, discovery, and lively civic discourse, while fostering appreciation for the vital role that artists play in improving our community.

Known as one of New Haven’s cultural anchors and a “derring-do alternative space” (The New York Times), Artspace is a champion of visual artist and their work. Your support will allow Artspace to sustain its award-winning summer arts apprenticeship for inner-city teens, the popular City-Wide Open Studios festival, professional development programs which equip artists with the means to build their careers, and our free year-round, museum-caliber exhibitions that educate, provoke, and delight visitors and residents alike.

Our gala will feature festive cocktails, hearty plates, and a silent auction at 20 Mill Street, a warehouse building in Fair Haven being developed by our generous sponsor Bernblum & Bernblum, followed by an exciting live art auction presided over by the incomparable auctioneer, Guy Bennett, in one of the last charity appearances of his career. Three hundred of Connecticut’s movers and shakers are expected.

Ken Ginsburg, at Real Living Wareck D’Ostilio, represents the owners of 20 Mill Street, our gala site, and can be reached at ken@kngrealty.com or 203-376-6266.
