Students will recite poems in three rounds of performances. Students are listed in order of appearance, alphabetically by last name, and the poems each student will recite are listed in order, by round.

Featuring:

Julien Amsellem, Hastings High School
Under the Vulture-Tree by David Bottoms
A Barred Owl by Richard Wilbur
A Noiseless Patient Spider by Walt Whitman

Lance Anthony, White Plains High School
Time does not bring relief; you all have lied by Edna St. Vincent Millay
A Poem in which I Try to Express My Glee at the Music My Friend Has Given Me by Ross Gay
“Where did the handsome beloved go?” By Jalal al-Din Rumi

Samuel Bates, Haldane High School
We Lived Happily During the War by Ilya Kaminsky
In a London Drawingroom by George Eliot
Beginning by James Wright

Jillian Calub, Monroe-Woodbury High School
Beautiful Wreckage by W.D Ehrhart
Suppose by Phoebe Cary
Abecedarian Requiring Further Examination of Anglikan Seraphym Subjugation of a Wild Indian Rezervation by Natalie Diaz

Yaheli Cruz, Monroe-Woodbury High School
Who Burns for the Perfection of Paper by Martin Espada
The Arrow and the Song by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow
“Un Tintero”, Inkwell by Desirée Alvarez

Maggie Graseck, Rye High School
Fairy-tale Logic by A.E. Stallings
Plaint in a Major Key by Jorge Sánchez
Dragons by Devin Johnston

Juliette Hamlen, Rye High School
Retired Ballerinas, Central Park West by Lawrence Ferlinghetti
There Are Birds Here by Jamaal May
Encounter written and translate by Czeslaw Milosz

Gabriel Korin, White Plains High School
Dawn of Man by Max Ritvo
Ozymandias by Percy Bysshe Shelley
One Art by Elizabeth Bishop

Percy Parker, Haldane High School
Love’s Philosophy by Percy Bysshe Shelley a song in the front yard by Gwendolyn Brooks son/daughter by Kai Conradi

Talia Richer, Hastings High School
An Apology for Her Poetry by Duchess of Newcastle Margaret Cavendish
Insomnia by Dana Gioia
Wedding Poem by Ross Gay

Ariel Yarmus, Cornwall Central High School
One Girl by Sappho
Least Concern by John Shoptaw
My Partner wants me to write them a poem about Sheryl Crow by Kayleb Rae Candrilli