

Egg Panca ke.—Here is a splendid pancake for breakfast for a small family: An ordinary portion for two people is made of four eggs, a pinch of salt, and a tablespoonful of flour wet with a bit of milk to rub the lumps out; all these beaten together until light and frothy, and one cup of milk added and beaten again. Pour this into a hot greased skillet and cook over a slow fire. Both sides should be browned. This pancake ought to puff up two inches. It may be eaten with jams, jellies or syrup.
