

Rice Bread.—Beat one egg, without separating until light; add one cupful of milk, a half teaspoonful of salt, one cupful of cornmeal, and one cupful of cold boiled rice; beat thoroly; then add a half cupful of flour sifted with three level teaspoonfuls of baking powder, beat, stir in four extra tablespoonfuls of milk, turn at once into greased layer-cake pans, and bake in a hot oven 30 minutes. Turn out one cake, spread it with butter, put the other on top, dust with powdered sugar, and send to the table.
