

SIMPLE SIRUP may be made in small quantities and kept for a week or two, and will be found most convenient and satisfactory. Dissolve a pound of granulated sugar in a quart of water, letting it come slowly to the boiling point; add one-eighth of a teaspoonful of cream of tartar and boil five minutes; cool, pour into a jar and keep in a cool place.